G-23 holds fire as truce reached with Gandhis

RS term likely for Asad, PCC chief post for Hooda

PARVEZ SULTAN @ New Delhi

WITH the top leadership of Congress reaching out to members of the group of 23 (G-23) dissidents to iron out differences, a compromise seems to have been arrived at to prevent a split in the grand old party.

According to party leaders in the know of the matter, Congress chief Sonia Gandhi is likely to offer another Rajya Sabha term to Ghulam Nabi Azad and appoint Bhupinder Singh Hooda as the president of Haryana Pradesh Congress Committee.

"Things are moving in a positive direction and we are hopeful of a peaceful resolution soon. Ultimately, the agenda of both the parties is that the Congress should lead the country once again. Party leadership was always open to dialogue but on an appropriate platform. The only problem was the way they (G 23) perceived it. Given the way talks are being held, it seems that the crisis is going to end," said a Delhi-based Congress leader.

On Thursday, former party president Rahul Gandhi had a closed-door meeting with Hooda during which the latter sought the charge of the Haryana unit of the party. After the meeting, Hooda went straight to Azad's place, where some members of G-23 huddled once again in the evening. They reportedly discussed concrete proposals to strengthen the party and chalk out future strategy.

On Friday, Azad met Sonia at her residence. Later, Azad termed the meeting "good" and said Sonia should continue to lead the party.

The head of an affiliated unit of Congress said that Azad's statement, after meeting with Sonia, had amply suggested truce between the high command and G-23 leaders.

Row brews, CM for Gita in schools

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Yadgir, Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Saturday hinted that Bhagwad Gita will be introduced in schools, like in Gujarat, in the coming days.

At Devatkal village of Shorapur taluk, he said the Gujarat government took the decision as Bhagwad Gita helps students learn moral education. "The education department will study the issue and place its report before the cabinet. The cabinet will take an appropriate decision," he added.

To a query on whether only Bhagwad Gita preached morality, Bommai replied asking which other books preached moral education like the Gita did.

Primary and Secondary Education Minister BC Nagesh said there is an unnecessary controversy surrounding the issue. "This is aimed at teaching morality, and it is not about religion," he added. The minister said the government will proceed with its plans to introduce Gita based on the advice of experts.

Leader of Opposition Siddaramaiah said, "The government should teach moral education to students, but it should be through Bhagwad Gita, Quran and Bible." He asserted that there should be no discrimination on the basis of religion. P4

6 die as bus overturns in Tumakuru

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Tumakuru

IN a ghastly accident, six youth -- including two college students, were killed and 44 were severely injured after an overcrowded private bus overturned near a tank at Palavalli village in Pavagada taluk on Saturday morning.

The state government announced a compensation of Rs 5 lakh each to the kin of the deceased and Rs 50,000 to those injured. Transport Minister B Sriramulu, who visited Pavagada town, announced another Rs 1 lakh each to the relatives of the deceased.

Around 80-90 passengers, including some 30 people on top, were travelling in the SVT private bus from YN Hosakote to Pavagada town, picking up workers and students along the route. "It was the peak hour and students boarded the bus as they had no other alternative," said Nagendra, an eyewitness. P5

What's wrong with saffron? asks Naidu

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Dehradun

VICE-President M Venkaiah Naidu on Saturday called for a total rejection of the Macaulay system of education, saying it's high time the "colonial mindset" changed.

"We are accused of saffronising education, but then what is wrong with saffron? I don't understand," Naidu said while inaugurating the South Asian Institute of Peace and Reconciliation at the Dev Sanskriti Vishwa Vidyalaya in Haridwar.

"We must go back to our roots. We must give up our colonial mindset and teach our children to take pride in their Indian identity," the vice-president said.

He called for a total rejection of the Macaulay system, saying it imposed a foreign language as the medium of instruction in the country and confined the education to the elites.

Naidu's comments came days after the BJP-ruled Gujarat issued a circular to include Bhagwad Gita in the syllabus of classes VI-XII.

4th wave unlikely: Virologists

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

NO fourth wave will occur in the country unless an unexpected variant that behaves differently comes up, said top virologist T Jacob John on Saturday, adding India should not worry about Covid spikes seen in South Asia, especially in China and South Korea. "Today, with three waves behind us and with Omicron gone, I do not understand how fear needs to be inculcated into human beings and for what purpose. I don't believe in predicting a wave based on mathematical modeling. There is nothing to fear the fourth wave," said John at an event to release his book, Polio — the eradication imbroglio – the disorder and its remedy.

LEARNING THE ROPES

Malli Hagga, a sport involving gymnasts performing asanas with ropes, is becoming increasingly popular and deserves a push

G SUBASH CHANDRA @Chitradurga

THIS is another version of the great Indian rope trick: asanas and acrobatics mid-air, entwined in a hagga (rope). Malli Hagga, which literally means 'woman performing on a rope', is an aerial sport in which gymnasts perform various exercises and yoga, swinging flawlessly and walking nimbly in air.

While rope gymnastics and rope ballet are popular internationally, the sport is relatively new at the Taralabalu School in Sirigere, Chitradurga district. Students who have been learning this sport for the past five years, have already displayed their skill on various national platforms.

Malli Hagga is an offshoot of the Mallakhamb, a sport performed on a pole. It involves the performance of acrobatics and yogasanas on a crossbar, fixed at a height of more than 10 feet, using a rope. As the girls climb swiftly on to the crossbar and display their expertise in padmasana, parvatasana, shavasana, Bajarangi pakad and Nataraja asana, the audience is left stunned. Such tricks require skill, balance, dedication, confidence, a fit body and an alert mind.

During a competition, a Malli Hagga exponent has to perform 10 various acts, exercises or asanas in 90 seconds, in the first round or compulsory set. In the second round or optional set, they can select exercises of their choice. Their performance is assessed by a panel of three to five judges, on parameters like the degree of difficulty of the exercise, execution, grace and coordination.

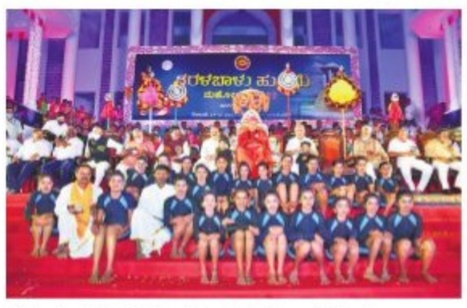
Manjunath B Kolachi, who has been training girls from the age of 3 to 21 years since 2017, says, "This sport has all the qualities of modern-day gymnastics. If the girls who are trained continue with gymnastics, they have huge potential to win medals for the country on an international platform." Until now, more than 500 girls have learnt the sport.

Earlier known as the rope trick of Mallakhamb, it was named 'Malli Hagga' by the seer of Taralabalu mutt Dr Shivamurthy Shivacharya Swamiji, after watching the girls perform acrobatics. Ever since, the name has stuck, and Malli Hagga is now synonymous with women performing with rope.

Kolachi says there is an urgent need to take Malli Hagga forward, and transform it into a performance sport. With the involvement of the Ministry of Youth Affairs and Sports, it could go national. The sport, which has reference to mythology, can see a revival but only if students continue with their performances even after leaving school and college.

Centuries-old sport

The earliest recorded reference to mallakhamb is found in the 1135 AD Sanskrit classic Manasollasa, written by Someshvara Chalukya, although it may have existed since the days of the Maurya dynasty. Originally, mallakhamb was used as a supporting exercise for wrestlers. The sport was not so popular until it was revived by Balambhatta Dada Deodhar, the fitness instructor of Peshwa Baji Rao II in the 18th century, during the reign of the Peshwas. Deodhar improvised the sport with a cane. Challenged by two wrestlers of Hyderabad, Deodhar went to the forests of Saptagiri (near Nashik) to practice yoga and wrestling. There, in a temple premises, he noticed a monkey swinging on a lamp post. Inspired by that, he practised the sport and defeated the wrestlers, and today, it has become a performance art and a method of training.



Students of Taralabalu School in Sirigere, Chitradurga district, perform the aerial sport of Malli Hagga, an offshoot of the Mallakhamb, on various national platforms. So far, more than 500 girls have learnt the sport | EXPRESS

Rani Lakshmibai of Jhansi was proficient in the rope tricks of Mallakhamb and learnt it with her childhood friends Nana Sahib and Tatya Tope

Krishnadevaraya and Chhatrapathi Shivaji too learnt this sport

Queens and members of royal families learnt it to save themselves during an invasion to reach safety

Much later, almost every traditional gym or 'Garadi Mane' had a Mallakhamb (pole) installed

Understanding the importance of the sport, I renamed it as Malli Hagga as it is performed by women and girls. The sport will improve the stamina and health of women. More importantly, it will make these women self-reliant and ensure that they will be leaders in the later part of their lives

A visually-impaired entrepreneur beats all odds to not only conquer STEM learning, but also to help others like her

A vision to guide the challenged

KARTHIK K K @ Mysuru

MOCKED for choosing mathematics in her childhood and discouraged by several institutions and teachers against pursuing science, with a 'caution' that it would be too difficult for her, visually-impaired entrepreneur Vidhya Y dared to dream big. She defied all odds to not just bag gold medals in her Masters, but is today leading other visually-challenged people to taste success, through effective learning in Science, Technology, Engineering, and Mathematics (STEM) courses.

Visually challenged since birth, Vidhya faced several difficulties in studying science and mathematics, owing to their visual nature. Completing her early education at a village in Bengaluru Rural district, she joined a formal school for higher education but struggled to cope. Though she developed an interest in maths and science disciplines, including the curricula involving equations and diagrams, all tasks seemed uphill to her.

She also sought a tutor's help after school to learn the basics. But a lack of access to technology, especially resources related to STEM subjects, more so for the visually impaired, threw up more challenges.

Determined, Vidhya still opted for mathematics as an elective in her pre-university and became the first visually-impaired student from the state to clear the subject with good marks. "Since childhood, I have been fond of numbers. Even now, my mother recalls instances of how I used to count each and every mustard seed and rice grain as a child. It was by nature that I had a fascination for maths and science. But there was no content available to teach these subjects for the visually-challenged," recalls Vidhya.

After her PUC, she did her Bachelor of Computer Application. After completing it, she enrolled in a Master's programme in Digital Society Programming at IIIT-Bangalore and excelled in the course, bagging a gold medal too.

Despite her achievements, however, no company was willing to hire her. That's when she decided to use this setback as an opportunity and decided to create jobs for others instead, as an entrepreneur, with a mission to make STEM education accessible to visually-impaired students.

Vidhya, along with Supriya Dey, an IT professional who was into research at IIIT-B; and Amit Prakash, a professor at the institute, founded Vision Empower (VE), a not-for-profit organisation that has designed an accessible learning management platform to promote experiential learning of STEM subjects, computational training, digital literacy, and early childhood programmes. Its technology arm 'Vembi Technologies' has also developed the world's most affordable Braille book reading solution for children called 'Hexis-Antara'.

Beginning with science and maths interventions in one school, Vision Empower is currently working with over 30 schools across six states on a portfolio that covers STEM, computational thinking, and digital literacy, especially for visually challenged teachers. This year they have been able to touch more than 18,000 direct and indirect beneficiaries, with the help of more than 300 volunteers.

As a Research Fellow at Microsoft, Vidhya coauthored two papers published by ACM. She has also hosted 35 episodes as an RJ on science and technology, which benefited thousands of visually-impaired listeners.

"Most visually-challenged students across the country learn in blind schools. They are being told by their teachers, who are also visually challenged, that it's not possible to learn maths and science. I work to ensure that no visually-impaired child faces those challenges that I had to deal with while studying subjects of my choice. VE provides everything that is necessary to parents, teachers, and other stakeholders. I also represent it at many national and international forums to encourage others to join the movement, create awareness about the capabilities of visually impaired and explore opportunities for people with disabilities," she says.

Vision Empower co-founder Supriya Dey says that nurturing Vision Empower at its infancy has been an extremely enriching experience. "It is only the dedication and innovation of the VE and Vembi teams and the unwavering support from IIITB and our sponsors, mainly Microsoft India, Wipro Foundation, and Elektrobit India at a very critical time. The real impact will be when the students find access to STEM subjects and are able to create careers if they so choose," she concludes.

Vidhya is a special student. She wanted an opportunity to be provided. Most universities in India do not allow visually impaired students to pursue higher education in the areas of science and technology. Hence, she proved herself by topping the score in her admission test as well as graduating CGPA at the time of graduation. We are truly proud of Vidhya

Presently, the construction of the government school has already started with the nursery block. ENS

WITH CURBS GONE, KARAGA FROM APRIL 8 TO BE A BIG DRAW

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

WITH the most-awaited Karaga all set to be held in Bengaluru after a gap of two years, its organising committee is apprehensive about security measures for the event as the crowd is expected to be massive and crowd management will prove to be a task for them.

At a meeting with the Bengaluru Urban District Commissioner and Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) Chief Commissioner, it was decided to host the festival in the traditional manner from April 8. The festival will culminate in a grand procession (Karaga Utsav) on April 16.

MLC P R Ramesh, also a Karaga committee member, told The New Sunday Express that huge crowds are expected on all the days of the festivities. Even as the police department, District Commissioner and BBMP are working on the security, the committee is also working on ensuring that special measures are in place to prevent any untoward incidents.

Another committee member said they are also worried that the event should not turn into a Covid super-spreader. Emotional, religious and cultural sentiments are very high regarding local festivals. So, without hurting anyone's feelings, the event needs to be held. For this, a detailed plan is being prepared by the officials and committee members, he pointed out.

"We are also hoping that no new restrictions will be enforced by the government by that time. At present, all restrictions have been relaxed. But two years back, just a few days before the festival, restrictions were put in place. We do not want the same to happen this time," the member added.

Two MLAs promise to make their constituencies safe for women by '23

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

MAHADEVAPURA MLA Aravind Limbavali and Malleswaram MLA Dr C N Ashwath Narayan have declared that they will work towards making their constituencies more women-safe within the next year.

At the launch of Bangalore Political Action Committee (B.PAC) B.SAFE Constituency Public Place Safety Audit report on Saturday, the Mahadevapura MLA promised to make women's safety a priority in the constituency. "There have not been incidents of violence against women in the constituency since I took office. However, women's safety will definitely be given priority, and all suggestions and feedback in the report will be welcomed," he said.

The two reports were a combined effort by 45 women B. SAFE ambassadors from the two constituencies who identified areas in which there were infrastructural gaps.

Representatives of Malleswaram MLA CN Ashwath Narayan's office and Mahadevapura MLA Aravind Limbavali launch the report in Bengaluru on Saturday | ASHISHKRISHNA HP

The report highlights issues like the distribution of streetlights, maintenance of public toilets, functionality of CCTVs and walkable footpaths depending on the areas assessed. The ambassadors collected data from locals and assessed the state of anganwadis, bus stops, first-mile last-mile (FMLM), primary healthcare centres, markets, police stations, parks and public toilets in the constituencies.

Limbavali said that a big hurdle in doing development projects in the constituency was due to land issues as well as lack of funding. "Mahadevapura is an underdeveloped constituency compared to Malleswaram or Shivajinagar. The installation of streetlights will require improving the roads as well as grants for both. However, we will definitely try and implement all suggestions within the next year," he said.

VC forum gives tips on edu for Ukraine returnees

BENGALURU: The Forum of Vice-Chancellors of Karnataka (FVCK) has urged the government to follow up on the education of the rescued students from Ukraine. With assurance from Higher Education minister Dr CN Ashwath Narayan that the student's education will be looked into, the forum has presented certain points to be considered.

It has proposed that the students undertake the National Medical Commission screening test. It also stated that the curriculum and subjects offered by Indian and Ukrainian universities are different and efforts must be made to work out an equivalence between the two.

The forum has also stated that the NEET can be used and emphasised that the board examination results be used in the admission process of the students. ENS

Identify hospitals in cities for clinical surveillance: Experts

Such a move will help in tracing any changes in symptoms, they feel

CHETANA BELAGERE
@ Bengaluru

WHILE experts in India feel that the next few weeks are crucial for the country as far as monitoring for any new SARS-CoV-2 variant goes, Karnataka's health experts and epidemiologists have suggested setting up of clinical surveillance at some of the major hospitals in big cities.

"South Africa could recognise the emergence of the Omicron variant as it noticed that there is a different clinical variety of Covid-19 manifestation. Similarly, in this silent period, when the number of cases is less, we need to ensure we keep track of people coming with Covid-19 symptoms and how the disease is manifesting," said a senior doctor and member of the Technical Advisory Committee (TAC).

Experts suggest that hospitals which get higher number of patients — like the Victoria Hospital, Rajiv Gandhi Institute of Chest Diseases (RGICD), Bowring Hospital, etc., in Bengaluru — can be identified where doctors can be informed to initiate clinical surveillance to identify any changes in symptoms. In these hospitals, Covid-positive patients who come with SARI/ILI, fever or any symptoms different from the Omicron presentation, can be observed and genome-sequenced.

A health worker collects swab samples from a man for Covid-19 testing at the Kempegowda Bus Station in Bengaluru on Saturday | SHRIRAM B N

However, Dr Ravi Mehta, renowned pulmonologist, Apollo Hospitals, says that it all depends on data.

"Clinical surveillance is important, but it all depends on what we are looking at. If the data from the countries showing surge is indicating a new variant, then it makes sense to put in all resources there. Otherwise, if it is the Omicron and its sub-lineages, then there is no reason to worry in India. But vigilance has to be maintained," he stressed.

According to sources, a detailed discussion on the IIT Kanpur's statistical model, predicting fourth wave in India from June 22, was held at the recent TAC meeting by epidemiological expert Dr Giridhara Babu R, IISc Professors Rajesh Sundaresan and Indian Statistical Institute Prof Siva Athreya, and they found that there were certain inherent limitations in the forecasting.

Allow biz travellers to get booster shots, says trade body

CHETANA BELAGERE @ Bengaluru

SEVERAL IT companies and manufacturing units planning to send their employees to European countries, especially Germany, or those travelling on business from Bengaluru, are finding it difficult to do so. The reason being that these countries want incoming Indian travellers to have had either the first or second dose of the prescribed Covid-19 and 270 days have not lapsed from the date of the last dose.

Even if an adult is vaccinated with the second dose in August, then the 270-day period will have elapsed and they will be considered as unvaccinated. The Bangalore Chamber of Industry and Commerce (BCIC) recently wrote to Health Minister Dr K Sudhakar seeking permission to administer precautionary doses for such travellers, irrespective of age.

"It is brought to our notice that some countries in the EU want incoming Indian travellers to ensure that both doses of the Covid vaccination have been administered and 270 days have not elapsed from the date of the last dose. In the event 270 days have elapsed, then the individual is considered as unvaccinated. This norm causes undue inconvenience to many business travellers, as international air travel is opening up in many countries," BCIC president K R Sekar said in his letter.

Sekar suggested that those who have been given two doses of Covid-19 vaccine be allowed to receive additional booster shots immediately after the expiry of 270 days, irrespective of their age, in case they intend to travel abroad. A fourth shot may also be considered in case the destination countries do not change their guidelines for incoming international travellers, he noted.

"We are getting requests from companies and industries to ensure permission is given so that business travellers are free of unnecessary hassles of being in quarantine after reaching the destination," he said.

Ephedrine worth ₹9.2 crore seized

The Customs Intelligence Unit, Special Intelligence and Investigation Branch, Bengaluru airport, and Air Cargo Commissionerate have seized 46.799 kg of ephedrine worth Rs 9.2 crore from a shipment marked for Australia. According to sources, based on specific intelligence, the officers of CIU, SIIB and Air Cargo Commissionerate "intercepted a shipment in the export shed that was attempted to be exported to Australia by a Chennai-based exporter. The goods were declared as assorted kitchen utensils", said sources. On examination, they found a white crystalline substance concealed in the cavity of some utensils. "The substance tested as ephedrine weighed 46.799 kg worth Rs 9.23 crore. The contraband was seized under NDPS Act," sources added.

Upset over hubby's affair, woman ends life

Upset over her husband's alleged extra-marital affair, a 24-year-old woman ended her life at their house in Subramanyanagar on Friday night. The police have detained the husband. The couple had married just four months ago. The deceased has been identified as Indushri, a resident of Gayatrinagar, who was married to Rakesh Kumar, a BPO staffer. Police said that Indushri was found hanging in a room. Rakesh saw her body and alerted her parents, who then called the police. Indushri left a suicide note, stating that she was upset over her husband's affair which led her to take the extreme step. Based on a complaint by the victim's father, the police on Saturday detained Rakesh. A case of abetment to suicide has been registered.

Techie who set Dalit girl ablaze held

BENGALURU: Electronics City police on Saturday arrested 24-year-old software engineer Shivakumar Hirehala for allegedly killing his girlfriend by setting her on fire.

Shivakumar was picked up at a bus stop when he was trying to flee to Tamil Nadu and he had just returned from Koppal in the early hours on Saturday.

Shivakumar had allegedly taken Daneshwari (22), a Dalit engineering graduate and his live-in partner, to an isolated place in Kudlu on Hosur Road, poured petrol on her and set her on fire on March 15. She succumbed to her injuries on Thursday. Daneshwari's family stated that he refused to marry her as his parents were opposed to the relationship because she was a Dalit. When she started insisting on marriage, he allegedly set her on fire, Daneshwari's family complained. ENS

SUNDAY INTERVIEW

'RAHUL SHOULD MEET CONGRESS LEADERS ONCE EVERY WEEK'

RAMU PATIL @ Bengaluru

During Indira Gandhi's time, we would win elections even if the candidate's name was announced just one week before the polls. Now, we have to announce the names of candidates at least one year before the elections

- K H Muniyappa, Congress Working Committee member (permanent invitee) and former Union Minister

IT is difficult to strengthen the Congress party without the leadership of the Gandhi family, feels Congress Working Committee member (permanent invitee) and former Union Minister K H Muniyappa. "We have to strengthen their leadership. During the CWC meeting, I suggested to Rahul Gandhi to meet the party leaders from across the country once every week, as that will help solve 50 per cent of problems," Muniyappa told The New Indian Express. Excerpts from an interview:

Your views on the current crisis in the Congress?
The party is still very strong at the booth and village levels. We have to make some changes to suit the needs of the time. The BJP is winning elections with their anti-people policies and the Congress lost despite its pro-people principles. This happened because we did not take steps that should have been taken from time to time.

What are those measures and what needs to be done now?
During Indira Gandhi's time, we would win elections even if the candidate's name was announced just one week before the polling. Now, we have to announce the names of candidates at least one year before the elections. Preparations should start a year in advance and Pradesh Congress Committee presidents and legislature party leaders should be given a good team of people from all sections of society. They should hold regular meetings in all districts to strengthen the party and resolve differences, if any, among the leaders. We have to work unitedly for the party.

Why has the Congress not been able to halt its losing streak?
Lack of unity among secular parties and split in the secular votes are the problems. The (combined) vote share of secular parties is more than the BJP. At the national level, it is inevitable to unite all secular parties and it will happen. A secular alliance will form the government after the 2024 elections and the Congress will play a major role in it.

Will the Congress take the initiative to unite all secular parties?
At the CWC meeting, senior leader Ghulam Nabi Azad discussed the consolidation of secular votes. The BJP has 34-40 per cent vote share in many states, except in Uttar Pradesh, and the vote share of secular parties is 60 per cent. If there is a consolidation of secular votes, the BJP will not come to power. That is being discussed.

Your views on some Congress leaders suggesting that Gandhis' should make way for others as they have not been able to win the elections for the party?
The CWC decided that Sonia Gandhi will continue as the party president and organisational elections, including the president's elections, will be held from August 20 to September 20. Yes, in the meeting, Sonia Gandhi said they (Gandhi family) will extend full support if any Congress leader take the responsibility. However, all CWC members unanimously decided that she should continue to lead the party. It is difficult to strengthen the party without the Gandhi family leadership.

Some people may have expressed such opinion. But, can we think of any other leader in the party and say that it is possible to win elections under his/her leadership? We have to strengthen Rahul Gandhi's hand and he should work with a core committee. At the meeting, I also suggested to Rahul Gandhi to meet party leaders coming from across the country, for a full day, once a week. Such meetings will help solve more than half the problems. Indira Gandhi, Rajiv Gandhi and Sonia Gandhi used to do that.

How will the current crisis impact Congress in Karnataka ahead of 2023 assembly polls?
In Karnataka, we all are working together to bring the party to power. The BJP is bringing up issues like hijab, Bhagavad Gita and other religious issues to be in power. India is a secular country and we must respect people from all religions. The BJP is trying to fight the elections on religious issues, and not on development issues. We will convince people about our principles and win elections.

Senior BJP leaders claim that there are differences between KPCC president D K Shivakumar and CLP leader Siddaramaiah. Your views?
At the Congress Foundation Day programme on December 28, 2021, I had stated that despite losing elections under his leadership, Sonia Gandhi appointed Siddaramaiah as the CLP leader and DK Shivakumar as the state party president with the expectation that they will bring the party back to power. Their followers should not discuss who should be the next CM and it will be decided by the high command. I stand by that statement. We should all work together to bring the party to power. We are doing it and there are no differences among the leaders.

Do you think the AAP is set to replace the Congress and emerge as a major force?
No, that is not possible. Internal issues within the Congress helped the AAP in Punjab.

Bengaluru cops file FIR over life threat to HC Chief Justice

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

The Vidhana Soudha police on Saturday registered an FIR against an unknown person for allegedly issuing a life threat to the Chief Justice of the Karnataka High Court over the judgment on the hijab issue. The Tamil Nadu police, meanwhile, have arrested the accused, Covai R Rahmatullah, a resident of Coimbatore, after the video went viral on social media and local news channels.

The full bench of the high court, headed by the Chief Justice, had delivered the verdict last Tuesday. Following a threat perception, security for the judges has been reviewed and heightened.

A senior police officer said that based on a complaint by advocate Sudha Katwa, quoting a video clip, the police have booked the accused for criminal intimidation, creating enmity between two groups and also for breach of public peace. "We will transfer the case to the Madurai police as the incident took place in Tamil Nadu and they will investigate further. It is said that Rahmatullah, belonging to an Islamist organisation named Tamil Nadu Thowheed Jamath (TNTJ), delivered the speech on March 17 an event and held out an open threat in Tamil that if judges get killed over the hijab case verdict, then, they will themselves be responsible for it," the officer said.

Meanwhile, cases were booked against two other members of the outfit in Tamil Nadu.

Speaking to TNIE, Sudha Katwa said a representation has also been submitted to the Registrar General of the Karnataka High court by advocate S Umapathi, seeking action against the accused to preserve the integrity and independence of the judiciary.

"The Registrar General has assured us of taking action in regard and later, we also filed a complaint with the Vidhana Soudha police," she said.

Teach Gita, Bible, Quran to students: Siddu

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Udupi

WITH the state government announcing its intent to introduce Bhagwad Gita in schools, former chief minister and leader of opposition Siddaramaiah on Saturday said the government can teach moral education to students, but it should be through Bhagwad Gita, Quran and Bible. He asserted that there should be no discrimination on the basis of religion.

Asked whether BJP is weaponising religion with issues like hijab row and introduction of Bhagwad Gita targeting the 2023 Assembly elections, Siddaramaiah said BJP can take up many other issues to fight the election.

"It should seek votes based on its work and not by fanning religious sentiments," Siddaramaiah added.

Irked by temple decision

He took exception to the decision of Kaup Hosa Marigudi Temple authorities, who on Friday auctioned shops and stalls only to Hindus during the Suggi Maari Pooje -- an annual fair to be held on March 22 and March 23. He said, "The authorities should take action against those who take such decisions."

As several temples in the coastal and Malnad regions have been following the same practice of awarding tenders only to Hindus during temple events, reporters sought Siddaramaiah's opinion as he was vocal in the past against such actions.

On Saturday, he limited his response to oppose the decision of the temple and did not go on to criticise any right wing organisations.

Siddaramaiah said law does not permit discrimination of anyone based on religion. The government should take proper legal action, he added.

Upset over Muslim traders closing down their shops in the coastal region on March 17 protesting against the Karnataka High Court verdict on hijab issue, the managing committee of Hosa Marigudi Temple at Kaup did not allot shops and stalls to Muslims in an auction held on March 18 for the 'Suggi Mari Pooje'.

In a meeting of the committee a resolution was passed to allow only Hindus to participate in the auction of shops/stalls.

Gita will affect education in schools, like Covid did: Sait

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Mysuru

THE state government's intended move to introduce Bhagwad Gita in schools can have consequences that are far worse than the impact of Covid on education, cautioned former education minister and Congress MLA Tanveer Sait here on Saturday.

Any elected government should stick to secular principles after the election, he said. The government must focus on imparting education to all children and maintain equality as stressed by the Karnataka High Court, he added.

Asked about the hijab controversy, he said that many students who did not appear for exams insisting on wearing hijab should be given another opportunity to write the exams. He said there is no protest against the hijab row verdict, and Friday's bandh was a voluntary move to draw the attention of the government.

The Karnataka High Court passed a judgement recently, upholding the state government ban on hijab in educational institutions.

'Conspiracy behind move'

Meanwhile, Kannada Chaluvali leader Vatal Nagraj said there is a conspiracy behind the government introducing Bhagwad Gita in schools. The government is raising such issues to cover up its failures, he alleged.

The government should discuss the issue with education experts and parents instead of taking unilateral decisions, he said.

On The Kashmir Files movie, he said there is a need to make a movie on people who died due to lack of oxygen at Chamarajanagar, floating of bodies in the Ganga and people who died without beds at hospitals.

ACCESS TO ALL

Will ensure good education in madrasas too, says Nagesh

ENS @ Karwar

MENTIONING that no student, including from the minority community, must be deprived of education, Primary and Secondary Education Minister B C Nagesh said on Saturday said such students will soon receive good education at madrasas too.

Nagesh, who was attending a programme at the Vishnu Gupta University at Gokarna in Kumta taluk of Uttara Kannada district, said, "Like students from other communities, minority students too should have access to mainstream education. They should not be deprived of it. We will think about it in the days to come." Nagesh said he has spoken to leaders of the minority community, who expressed their concerns over the dwindling number of students at madrasas. Pointing out that many poor students study in madrasas, he said these students need quality education. "The government will ensure that," he added.

On the hijab issue, where some students have refused to attend classes after the High Court verdict upheld the state government ban on headscarves in educational institutions, he said the government will not force them to attend schools and colleges. "We have 99.9 per cent of students attending classes after the High Court judgement, while the remaining have refused. It is left to them. If they wish to attend classes, we will convince them to come and study, but they will not be forced," he added.

Like students from other communities, minority students too should have access to mainstream education. They should not be deprived of it. We will think about it in the days to come

- B C Nagesh, Primary and Secondary Education Minister

He said that there will be no confusion on the New Education Policy, and it will be implemented in 20,000 schools, while the remaining will continue with the old policy. "We will start in those schools where there are more students. There are about 48,000 schools in the state," he said.

On introducing Bhagwad Gita in schools, he said there is an unnecessary controversy regarding this. "This is aimed at teaching morality, and is not an issue of religion," he said. The minister said the government will proceed with its plan to introduce Gita based on the advice of experts.

Will bring Cong back to power: Patil

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

EXPRESSING confidence in a Congress victory in the 2023 Assembly polls, senior party leader and former minister M B Patil on Saturday said, "Though it's a big challenge, we will put forth a united front to bring the party back to power by winning 130-140 seats in the next Assembly polls. The results of the recent elections to five states will not impact Karnataka."

Patil, who is scheduled to take oath as the KPCC campaign committee chairman at a grand event on March 28 on Palace Grounds in Bengaluru, held a joint press conference here, along with working president Salim Ahmed. AICC general secretary and Karnataka in-charge Randeep Singh Surjewala will inaugurate the function at 3 pm and a host of Congress leaders, including Leader of Opposition in the Rajya Sabha, Mallikarjun Kharge are expected to attend.

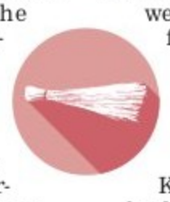
Briefing reporters, Patil clarified that the party will not declare its Chief Ministerial candidate for Karnataka, as it had followed the same strategy in the recently-held Assembly polls, except in Punjab.

"The Congress has a glorious history and has also witnessed many defeats. I will hold meetings of both the elders and the youth within the party and prepare a strategy soon after taking charge as the campaign committee chairman," he informed, thanking AICC president Sonia Gandhi for reposing faith in him.

"The BJP cannot succeed in whatever strategy it has to play as the Congress will come to power in 2023. M B Patil will tour the entire state with the party's agenda, besides exposing the anti-people policies of both the Centre and the State BJP Governments," claimed Salim Ahmed.

Fresh from Punjab win, AAP prepares for battleground K'taka

BALA CHAUHAN @ Bengaluru



POST its impressive electoral success in Punjab, the Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) is now looking to spread its winning Arvind Kejriwal's Delhi model to other parts of the country, including Karnataka, which will go to polls in 2023.

"There is a three-fold increase in support for AAP from Bengaluru City post-March 10 results. Our survey shows that Bengalureans are considering voting for AAP as the party of their choice in the next elections," Prithvi Reddy, Karnataka state convenor and national executive member, AAP told TNIE. He added that the Punjab victory has bolstered the people's desire for change and they want AAP.

"Earlier, AAP volunteers had to introduce themselves in their door-to-door campaigns in Bengaluru. Today, people recognise and welcome the AAP cap," he said, adding, "The party will fight against corruption, which is the single largest problem in Karnataka for the last three decades. Apart from corruption, we will go to people on the four promises: of improving education, healthcare, bijli and paani (electricity and water)."

Accordingly, AAP, Karnataka, has started a fundraising campaign for the upcoming BBMP elections.

To raise funds for the civic elections, AAP is doing a fundraiser -- 'AAP-Rising' – to help run the campaign on Sunday at Chancery Pavilion Hotel on Residency Road, between 11 am and 1 pm.

"We had conducted the first fundraiser in December last year and the response was positive. But for Sunday's fundraiser, we have got an overwhelming response. The number of donors has increased five times from the earlier event. Unlike other political parties, our funding is entirely through donations made by supporters via online or cheque," said Prakash Nedungadi, vice-president, Outreach, Bengaluru.

Bengaluru City president, AAP, Mohan Dasari said, "Bengalureans are fed up with the corruption, apathy, and inefficiency of the BJP government and BBMP. Corruption at every level, starting with the political leaders, has prevented this city from being truly a modern city that cares for every citizen. This is what AAP will do when we win in BBMP and other elections in Karnataka."

Kerala may witness shortage of petroleum products in the next week as tanker truck owners on contract with BPCL and HPCL have decided to go on an indefinite strike from Monday. The strike comes as the GST Department has started sending notices to truck owners to pay hefty amounts as tax.

DANGER LURKS
AS CIVIC BODIES FAIL TO TANGO

TEAM TNIE

THE gross lack of coordination among civic agencies in Karnataka is not only delaying civic works while pushing up costs and causing inconvenience to citizens, it also poses a major threat to the lives of motorists and pedestrians.

On the night of March 13, a 27-year-old man who was out to fetch food for his mother, died after he unsuspectingly rode his two-wheeler into a half-open manhole on a newly-laid road in MS Palya under Yelahanka zone in Bengaluru. The open manhole had led to sewage seeping out and causing a pothole which was not visible to motorists.

The road was laid by the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP), after which the Bangalore Water Supply & Sewerage Board (BWSSB) took up drain repair works that required opening of manholes by digging the roads which had been inspected by BBMP Chief Commissioner Gaurav Gupta just a few days earlier and certified as fit in condition. Had the drain repair works been completed before the road works, it would have been safe for motorists and pedestrians. But unfortunately, the lack of coordination between the two agencies resulted in the loss of a life.

Thirteen such fatalities have been recorded over the last five years in Bengaluru alone. "Guilt haunts us whenever people lose their lives due to potholes," Karnataka High Court Chief Justice Ritu Raj Awasthi had remarked, before setting a 15-day deadline for BBMP to fill up all potholes in the city using the latest technology.

On November 1, 2019, Daulat M Devale (62) alias Gavali, an employee at a movie hall, was killed after he lost balance while riding his bicycle and fell in an incomplete gutter on Mandoli Road at Dwarka Nagar in Belagavi. He was killed on the spot after an iron rod pierced his head.

His grieving widow, Bharati Devale, had cried: "I need justice or else I will commit suicide in the middle of the road." The death was caused because of incomplete works on a gutter which had been left open with iron rods sticking out. The project was taken up under the Belagavi Smart City (BSC) project.

But such incidents have still not taught lessons to the authorities concerned, says Dr

BIG PICTURE

Dinesh Nashipudi, former corporator and ex-director of BSC Project, also a noted physician. He alleges that no experts supervise the works due to which it is being neglected. "This is because there is no transparency and coordination among different departments while taking up these development work," he says.

In Mysuru, lack of coordination among civic agencies has become a major problem besides being the cause for a spat between political leaders over the gas pipeline project which needs digging a majority of the roads in the Chamaraja and Krishnaraja constituencies. This can further affect the condition of roads in Mysuru city.

The Underground Drainage (UGD) Project sanctioned for Madikeri and Kushalnagar in 2012 still remains incomplete, largely affecting the city and town roads. The good roads in Madikeri and Kushalnagar were dug up to install pipelines for the UGD project, which still remains incomplete a decade later due to land disputes for installation of a Sewage Treatment Plant. Further, after the natural disasters across Kodagu, the lack of coordination between different departments has affected road works. At many places, including Mekeri Road and NH-275, the drainage systems are being worked on after asphalting works. Meanwhile, new lines of mobile network and optical fibre cables have also affected the roads, making the situation worse.

In Hubballi-Dharwad, optical fibre cable-laying agencies, drinking water pipeline-laying agencies dig up roads while paying no attention to other underground utilities. Often, piped natural gas leaks and catches fire due to negligence of other agencies.

Santosh Nargund, Karnataka state head, Janaagraha Centre for Citizenship and Democracy, says there is a need for a coordination committee of all agencies to oversee the works.

WHY THE PROBLEM

Bengaluru-based civic expert and executive trustee at CIVIC, Kathyayini Chamaraj, while giving the example of the state capital, says the institutional mechanism is a problem. The metropolitan planning committee is inactive at the regional and state levels. All agencies, like water and electricity boards, should have been brought under the BBMP council, but that has not happened, she feels. At present, there is no elected council in the BBMP, but even if it is there, all powers are not with the council, she noted.

She says the BBMP commissioner heading the city is a mere colonial relic. The Mayor of the city should be like the Chief Minister of the state, taking all decisions, and the commissioner, like the Chief Secretary, executing them. But this is not happening on the ground. This has also not been done in the 74th amendment to the KMC Act.

She says coordination could have also been brought about at the zonal level when zonal commissioners were appointed, or at the ward committee meetings. But that too is not happening and officials do not participate. At present, the rule is that for projects of over Rs 5 crore, the state government takes decisions. So, with too many agencies, there are big problems.

Tara Krishnaswamy from Citizens for Bengaluru (CfB) says lack of coordination is only because of lack of political will. The way Bengaluru is structured is that CM is holding Bengaluru portfolio and he has to handle the state too. There is a need for one city head, like the mayor. Pointing out that even during the council term, there was lack of coordination she said this was because the works to be handled by the council are still being done by other civic agencies like Bangalore Water Supply & Sewerage Board (BWSSB) and Bengaluru Electricity Supply Company (BESCOM). The council is left with limited powers and roles to handle. So a relook at the structure is required, she noted.

WHAT CAG AUDIT SAYS ABOUT ROAD SAFETY, LACK OF COORDINATION

The performance audit by Comptroller & Auditor General of India (CAGI) of the Karnataka State Road Safety Authority (KSRSA) – erstwhile Road Safety Cell – has flagged a lack of initiative in coordinating safety issues for motorists, pedestrians and citizens in general. It has noted that KSRSA conducted 36 meetings between April 2014 and March 2021, but there was no meeting conducted between January 2018 and January 2019. Besides, some crucial issues were not even considered in any of the meetings. These were

- Non-transport organisations using roads for their works without consulting competent road engineering authorities
- Collecting data on road safety/audit/ road safety review and follow-up action from road management agencies
- Problems faced by road users while driving through forest areas
- Facilities for pedestrians, like footpaths on either sides of roads
- Adequate ambulance services
- Removal of unscientific speedbreakers
- Proper road lighting
- Regulation of hoardings, banners

IMD forecasts more rain this summer

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE summer season this year is forecast to be different than the normal. While the prickly summer heat will increase temperatures, there will also be periodic breaks with a few rainy days.

Officials from the Indian Meteorological Department (IMD) have forecast that most parts of Karnataka will witness rain for the next four to five days due to the formation of multiple systems.

It predicts that the summer season this year would be normal and below normal over peninsular India with normal and above normal rain. Putting it simply, the number of rainy or cloudy days could be more this summer. Citizens are already feeling the high summer heat and dry conditions because of the drop in humidity levels. On March 17, 2022, Kalaburgi recorded a maximum of 40.1 degrees Celsius and Raichur on March 18 recorded the highest in the state at 41 degrees Celsius.

Sadananda Adiga, Meteorologist, IMD-Bengaluru, said that as per the outlook released by the head offices in Pune and Delhi, there will be more rain spells during summer months. There will be more cloud cover, but people will feel the summer heat due to the drop in humidity levels. On Saturday, Bengaluru recorded 34.1 degrees Celsius (1.1 degree Celsius above normal), but people felt it was much higher with the dry conditions.

Isolated rainfall with thundershowers have been forecast for most parts of the state due to the formation of systems. There is a well marked low pressure area over SE Bay of Bengal and adjoining south Andaman Sea. There is also a cyclonic circulation over east Vidarbha.

Mallu Swarajyam, freedom fighter passes away

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Hyderabad

MALLU Swarajyam, the fiery freedom fighter who revolted against the Nizam rule and participated in the Telangana Armed Struggle between 1945-1948, passed away on Saturday due to a lung infection.

The 91-year-old two-time MLA and CPM leader was hospitalised 20 days ago. She is survived by three children.

A CPM central committee member, Swarajyam was born in Karvirala-Kothagudem village in Thungathurthy mandal of Suryapet district. She went on to become a revolutionary leader and mobilised people against the Nizam. During the Armed Struggle, she carried a prize of ₹10,000 over her head. Chief Minister K Chandrasekhar Rao, Veerabhadram and other leaders condoled the death of Swarajyam.

CM orders probe into Pavagada bus accident

THE driver lost control of the vehicle while negotiating a curve on the tank bund past Veerammanahalli around 9 am.

"He was speeding and was driving rashly. Though passengers told him to slow down, he did not listen," said Darshan, a high school student who was travelling in the bus. He has been admitted to district general hospital with injuries.

When the bus overturned, passengers on top were flung into the tank bed, while those on the left side of the bus, including those riding the footboard, were trapped under. Local residents rushed to the spot and took up the rescue operation. They pulled out those trapped inside the bus and moved those lying unconscious on the tank bed to safety. Both the driver and conductor fled from the accident scene.

The deceased were identified as Kalyan (19) of YN Hosakote, sisters Harshitha (21) and Amulya (16) of Potaganahalli, Ajith (27) of Shoolanayakanahalli and Shahnawaz (20) of Bestarahalli of Kalanadurga taluk of Anantapur district in Andhra Pradesh. Dadavali (19) of Neelammanahalli died while being shifted to hospital, while Harshitha died at Victoria Hospital later in the evening.

The injured, including two minors, have been admitted to hospitals in Pavagada town and Tumakuru, NIMHANS, Indira Gandhi and Sanjay Gandhi hospitals in Bengaluru.

The Majority of victims were youth and were on their way to either their workplace or colleges. The left forearm of Raju (22), a construction labourer, was crushed and he was shifted to Sanjay Gandhi Hospital in Bengaluru for a surgery. A bachelor, he is the sole breadwinner of the family and had conducted his sister's wedding recently, his relatives said.

Sriramulu instructed officials to cancel permits given to private buses operating in Pavagada jurisdiction and said KSRTC will run an adequate number of buses in these routes. CM Basavaraj Bommai ordered a probe to fix responsibility and to find out whether the bus was fit to be operated.

Home Minister Araga Jnanendra said the bus was crowded as another bus cancelled its schedule along the route.

Vice-President M Venkaiah Naidu condoled the deaths and wished speedy recovery for the injured.

Pharma co director held for illegal export of Tramadol

ENS @bengaluru

The Narcotics Control Bureau (NCB), Bengaluru Zonal Unit, has arrested the director and four key employees of a pharmaceutical company in Telangana after it unearthed unauthorised re-export of 25,000 kg of Tramadol (psychotropic substance) to Pakistan and discrepancy in declared stock of around 3.85 kg of acetic anhydride. Tramadol and acetic anhydride are controlled under the NDPS Act, 1985.

"The NCB, BZU, searched the premises of Lucent Drugs Pvt Ltd, a pharmaceutical company in Sanga Reddy district, which manufactures integrated Active Pharmaceutical Ingredient (API) and intermediates and is one of the key exporters of Tramadol," said Amit Ghawate, zonal director, NCB, BZU.

"The NCB BZU has detected un-authorised re-export of 25,000 kg of Tramadol to Pakistan by this company in a year and discrepancy pertaining to the declared stock of acetic anhydride of around 3.85 kg," said Ghawate.

"During the course of the investigation, documentary and digital evidence revealed that the company had obtained a No Objection Certificate for export of Tramadol to Denmark, Germany, and Malaysia only, but they had innovated a channel to re-export the drug to Pakistan without any valid permission. The company had suppressed the ultimate destination - Pakistan - and the re-export details. They have re-exported 25,000 kg Tramadol to Pakistan without any valid permission during 2021," said Ghawate.

MLA's son was in car at time of mishap: Witness

ENS @Hyderabad

CONTRARY to the claim of Bodhan MLA Shakil Aaamir on the presence of his family members in the 'Thar' jeep at the time of the tragic accident that led to the death of a toddler, it has been established by the police that the MLA's son Raheel was indeed seated on the passenger seat.

Not only CCTV footage, but several eyewitnesses corroborated this, say police sources.

However, the official version is that Raheel is not the prime accused in the case.

Banjara Hills ACP M Sudarshan said that a case was registered under Sections 304 (a) and 337 IPC as soon as the accident was brought to the notice of the police. He said that Afnan Ahmed, the main accused, was driving the vehicle at the time of the accident and this was confirmed by the fingerprints taken from the steering wheel. Raheel was sitting on his left while Mohammed Maaz was in the rear seat of the car.

The Thar hit three women – Kajal Chauhan, Sarika Chauhan and Sushma Bhosle -- who were crossing the road. Kajal let go of the toddler in her arms who was brought dead to the hospital.

The ACP said that four teams were formed to crack the case and they scoured through CCTV footage obtained from over 100 cameras. None of the occupants of the car were drunk. Six eyewitnesses identified both Afnan and Maaz, the ACP said.

As soon as the women were hit, a crowd gathered and the terrified youth dispersed in three different directions. They switched off their mobile phones, making it difficult for the police to track their location.

AMERICAN matinee idol Marilyn Monroe said, rather memorably, "If you're gonna be two-faced at least make one of them pretty."

Earlier this week India bought oil from Russia at a discount — and is designing a mechanism to pay in rupees. The transaction has triggered froth and found space in a White House briefing. It didn't seem to matter that Europe continues to buy gas and oil from Russia even as neighbouring Ukraine is bombed by the hour. The Press Secretary chose to lecture India and said, "Think where you want to stand when history books are written in this moment in time." Now, that is rich even by American standards. Factoids serve a purpose. Nearly a decade before Jen Psaki was born the United States hugged Yahya Khan, Pakistan's military dictator, to befriend totalitarian tyrant Mao. Richard Nixon argued "we simply cannot afford to leave China forever outside the family of nations, there to nurture its fantasies, cherish its hates and threaten its neighbours". Well, China is now part of the family of nations and yet continues to nurture fantasies and threaten neighbours. Democracy is dead in Hong Kong and the 'reunification of Taiwan' looms large. That the hectoring should arrive in the run-up to the crucial Quad meeting is revealing and worth the attention of folks at the MEA.

Contextual autism is an essential instrument in the practice of hypocrisy. History is replete with instances of America haunted by the history of its own policies. Given that the median age of the world is around 30, let us look at just the past three decades. In 2022 Vladimir Putin is called a 'war criminal' but his rise has been fostered by the mushy approach of successive regimes. Bill Clinton felt Russia could partner the US; George W Bush looked into his soul and found him 'trustworthy'; Barack Obama presented a 'hot-mic-moment' of truth, and Trump admires Putin. The US (and the West) chose to blink at events – flattening of Grozny, invasion of Georgia, annexation of Crimea, bombing of Ukraine and more.

The brazen invasion (unleashed unilaterally by a super power) has triggered the end of global illusions. Most stark is the unravelling of the faith in the United Nations to intervene, to prevent war — neither major nor minor conflicts. The UN's preamble promises "to save succeeding generations from the scourge of war..." The promise has mocked generations of peoples across geographies. On display outside the UN building is Carl Reuterward's sculpture, the knotted muzzle of a Colt Magnum symbolising non-violence. Ironically the Knotted Gun now symbolises powerlessness — a UN tied in knots by its archaic structure, reduced into a podium for sermons, often a spectator of death and destruction.

In May 1956, Dag Hammarskjold, a pioneering peace-maker and second Secretary General of the UN, observed presciently, "It is when we all play safe that we create a world of the utmost insecurity. It is when we all play safe that fatality will lead us to our doom. It is in the dark shade of courage alone, that the spell can be broken." The penchant for playing safe is visible in the rejection of pleas for aircraft, for a no fly zone as Russia pommels Ukraine. The hope for courage is conspicuously corralled by the real-politics of expediency, by trillion Dollar costs, by domestic politics and by surging ambitions of totalitarian regimes.

Reluctance and reticence have implications. The sustainability of the existing rule-based world order and of supply chains impacting family budgets is being split wide open. The spectre of de-dollarization of globalisation is real. The domination of the US Dollar is being challenged. This column outlined the potential risks – of deglobalisation and the emerging narrative of competing systems (https://bit.ly/36DeGlo). China is buying and paying for Russian oil and gas in Yuan. Saudi Arabia is considering denominating oil exports in Yuan. It is not just about energy trade. Russia is formulating a mechanism for Rouble-based trade. On Friday speculations were rife that the Eurasian Economic Union which includes Russia entered into an agreement with China to design an independent international monetary and financial system.

These are early days but there is no disputing the risk of a world order, which promised and promoted prosperity, being upended by events and the aspirations of a rising China. Friday's two hour tele-détente between US President Joe Biden and Chinese President Xi Jinping has scarcely moved the needle – yes, there was the homily about war "not being in anyone's interest" but strategic ambiguity rules the day. It is true that China has gained from globalisation. Equally its $2.5 trillion plus exports are critical for global growth and tamping down inflation. So the question is as much about what China can afford to lose as it is about what the world cannot afford.

The price of unattended issues has come to haunt the global economy as uncertainty looms over a world that is poised at the brink of Cold War II.

CONGRESS CAN'T BE PRIVATELY OWNED

POINT OF VIEW

T J S GEORGE

COULD it be that Sonia Gandhi has struck a secret deal with the BJP to wind up the Congress once and for all? The idea may seem incredible. But this is Kali kala when anything is possible, and nothing is impossible. A distinguishing mark of Kali kala is that, under its stranglehold, what should be possible becomes impossible.

It should be possible for the Congress to shed the impression that it is a private business owned by the Gandhi family. But it won't. It should be easy for Sonia Gandhi to show that she is not a family heiress but an elected representative of the people. But she won't. Denying the obvious is a hallmark of Kali Yuga which started only recently and has a total duration of 4,32,000 years.

When the Congress lost miserably in five states recently, some two dozen Congress leaders said publicly that internal reforms and collective responsibility were essential to save the party. That should be obvious to anyone. But in the Congress what is obvious to all is not always obvious to some.

The group called G-23 that emerged within the Congress party comprised leaders who commanded a good deal of credibility such as Shashi Tharoor, Ghulam Nabi Azad, Kapil Sibal, Anand Sharma and Prithviraj Chavan. They do not agree with Rahul Gandhi assuming that he is the natural leader of the Congress. Kapil Sibal questioned the authority under which Rahul Gandhi leads the Congress. Rajasthan's Ashok Gehlot gave an insulting reply to silence Sibal. Yet, Gehlot could not remove the impression that murmurs against family control were spreading inside the party. But Congress culture remained unscathed. Senior leader Mallikarjun Kharge said openly that no one can weaken Sonia Gandhi's position in the party. What a pity!

It is bad for the Congress that the 'veneration' of Sonia and her family continues in one form or another even among the senior leaders of the party. These leaders do not pay attention to the setbacks already suffered by their party, nor learn lessons from them. The Congress could not even get the position of Leader of the Opposition in the Lok Sabha.

The picture could have been different if 'The family' had been less selfish. What right does Sonia have to expect people to accept the importance she assumes for herself? What is the justification for Priyanka Gandhi Vadra to speak on behalf of India? Priyanka Vadra's case is worse. It is tragic that the Congress no longer has a leadership that derives strength from the people. The historical importance of the Congress is too obvious to be denied by anyone. Even today it is the largest party after the BJP, with a hold in every state. It has 700 MLAs in various state assemblies. If it tries to continue as primarily a family affair, it will be crushed by the changing political psyche of India's new generations.

The picture could have been different if 'The family' had been less selfish. What right does Sonia have to expect people to accept the importance she assumes for herself?

'The family' must note that nobody has any grudge against it. But somebody must take hold of the party formally, openly and through the proper channels. The loyalist Shashi Tharoor said long ago that "if Rahul Gandhi wishes to take over, it should happen quickly". Various feeder organisations of the Congress have also been making similar suggestions.

There was a time when Rahul raised hopes that he was in the process of putting a young team in place. Men like Sachin Pilot, Sandeep Dikshit, Milind Deora, Deepender Hooda, Manish Tewari and Jyotiraditya Scindia were seen as torch-bearers of a new future. But the expected results never came. Some of the 'torch-bearers' even left the party. Was it a failure of Rahul Gandhi's leadership? The party never tried to analyse such events and learn lessons from them.

Kapil Sibal voiced a general feeling when he said that it was time for the Gandhi family to stay away from leadership positions in the party. Rahul did not reply. But a Rahul crony, Manickam Tagore, said that Sibal was speaking the language of RSS and BJP. What stupidity. Some of our politicians have no concept of what is a nation, what is leadership, or even what is the responsibility of a politician.

Gujarat and Himachal Pradesh are getting ready for elections later this year. The Congress is by far the most credible of the opposition parties in BJP-ruled India. Will it rise to history's call? JNU leader Kanhaiya Kumar once said: "If the Congress does not survive, India will not survive."

Those who have ears, let them hear.

KEJRIWAL EXPANDS HIS BASE WITH SOCIAL WELFARE MODEL

POWER & POLITICS

PRABHU CHAWLA

CHARISMA is the bridge between ambition and acquisition; plus performance powering populism, it projects political popularity. While the iconic Modi magic mesmerised masses in four states, Arvind Kejriwal's Punjab victory proves that marketing credible performance in one state can sell the future in the next. India suffers from an alternative national leadership famine. The spectacular performance by AAP, just a decade old, has punched holes in the national narrative. After winning Punjab, the second state where it has gained power, by grabbing 92 of the 117 Assembly seats, both the party and its unflashy captain have redefined charisma as the afterglow rather than the light itself.

In the world of entertainment and sports, celebrities owe their charm to their looks, plastic surgeons, makeup artists and other image-makers. In politics, the person himself/herself is the only image-maker. Though Modi's charisma made him an attractive mass proposition, he became a cult figure only after 20 years of credible performance. Last week, Kejriwal dominated the prime time and front pages and was projected by pundits as a long-term alternative to the BJP and Modi. No doubt, the mind space he occupies is disproportionately higher than AAP's vote share. Yet, as the folksy version of the new politician, AK has successfully projected his party as a vehicle for 'better din'. His mantra is about attracting, identifying and recruiting new talent whose past is unknown. His message: government money belongs to ordinary people who must get basic facilities either free or at nominal prices.

Kejriwal is no flash in the pan but an eccentric urban Che Guevara in shirt sleeves who takes on the Centre which treats him as half a chief minister of just a Union Territory. But he has overcome the Big Brother's intimidation and forged the image of a leader with a difference, skilled in connectivity, creativity and credibility.

New face paradigm

AAP's Punjab triumph smashed all previous records. Following the victory pattern in Delhi, AAP polled 42% votes. It grabbed three fourths of seats in its second attempt to form government in the state. In 2017, it had polled only 27% votes. AAP offered itself as a better alternative in Punjab to the disheveled Akalis, a weak BJP and a discredited and confused Congress. Its emphasis was on winnnability and new faces. AAP's 92 MLAs comprise professionals like doctors, advocates, sportspersons, teachers, women and, of course, some defectors. Moreover, AK is skilled at spotting potential leaders. He fully promoted Bhagwant Mann as part of his project to create new young leadership, who would keep the party flag flying for years ahead. This 'New Face' paradigm worked. As an outsider, AAP didn't face anti-incumbency factor. While its opponents, the BJP and the Congress have been in politics and in power for years, they were AK's natural targets. He picked young educated professionals from the streets with fire in their bellies to change the political environment. In 2014, many foreign educated youngsters with upper middle class backgrounds joined AAP and won elections in Delhi. Kejriwal provided an umbrella platform for all castes, communities and classes to participate building a new alternative. AAP is a party sans a dogmatic ideology or economic philosophy, but one of aam aaurats (women) and aam admis (men).

Empirical studies show that over 60% of sitting MLAs lose elections the second time. In Punjab, AAP's leadership and researchers identified likely losers and chose the right candidates against them. In its first election in Delhi in December 2013, AAP got 28 out of 70 seats and formed a minority government that survived for 49 days. In 2014, it lost all the seven Lok Sabha seats to the Modi Wave. It bounced back a year later with a record 67 out of 70 seats and reduced the BJP to three MLAs and the Congress to zero. Its vote share was 54%. It aggressively marketed brand 'Muffler Man' (Kejriwal) as the 'Miracle Maestro' of Indian politics. Kejriwal's current mission is to spread AAP's wings over new hunting grounds. As a result, AAP, born in 2012, has 156 MLAs which makes it the fourth largest party in the country. All other old regional and caste-based outfits are confined to their states, or like the BSP, have faded away. But Kejriwal casts a long shadow. The canny leader's intention is not always to win elections everywhere he plants his broom, but to make his presence felt. For the past ten years, he has been trying to influence electoral outcomes in Goa, Uttrakhand, Gujarat, UP, Haryana, Kerala and MP with little success, though he made gains in municipal elections in Gujarat, which seems to be his next target.

Pragmatic makeover

As a comparatively new kid on the block, AAP must be credited for fashioning a creative and credible agenda for a novel political ecosystem. Since the party was birthed by an anti-corruption movement, Kejriwal started off by providing a transparent government in Delhi. Instead of collecting money from the shadowy sources of the bloated underbelly of politics, he started crowd sourcing funds. During AAP's initial years, over 90% of the donations were by cheque. Kejriwal vigorously followed the welfare model. He offered water gratis, subsidised electricity, free healthcare through mohalla clinics and home delivery of essential services. He modernised the city's infrastructure. Modern facilities changed the image of government schools in the capital. AAP was the first party to reject VIP culture by abolishing red beacons on the vehicles of ministers and MLAs. Following the Modi model of publicity, Kejriwal amplified his achievements through massive publicity campaigns to establish his image as leader who doesn't forget his promises. Though he began as an idealist, AK is now a pragmatic and practical politician. His ultimate goal is to acquire maximum power, for which the means do not seem relevant. He poaches from other parties. He identifies leaders with resources and muscle power. And he chooses only people with mass connect who can ensure victory. He refused to promote a well known journalist to lead AAP in Goa because the person had no grassroots fix. But Kejriwal's success is primarily due to the withering away of the Congress in many states. AAP is moving faster than the BJP to create Congress-mukt states. Kejriwal targets states where the Congress is either weakening or is ruling, so that he can encash on the anti-incumbency. With a similar social vote base, AAP is a better alternative. Its strategy is to win the state or tactically withdraw if victory isn't in sight. For example, when Kejriwal discerned that Uttarakhand was a losing proposition, he withdrew from the contest and deployed more resources in Punjab.

Kejriwal has miles to go to become a decisive factor in national politics. But he is slowly inching in that direction. He has chosen national icons like Bhagat Singh and Ambedkar to attract more votes. He will devote his entire energy to convert Punjab into a model of good governance and seek votes in other states on that plank. With five more Rajya Sabha members, AAP will play a crucial role in legislative initiatives. In 2024, it could win half a dozen more seats from Punjab. The Kejriwal of 2022 isn't the same aggressive leader of 2015. He has degree but not pedigree. Kejriwal has authored the idea of AAP as the new crusader who has come of age. But it is still an idea whose time to acquire a nationwide acceptability will take a long time to come.

Russian oil conundrum

This regards to 'India calls out West's hypocrisy over Russian oil'. Russia's aggression in Ukraine continues unabated despite international sanctions. It is imperative for international community to persist with its pressure on Russia to enforce her withdrawal from Ukraine. One of the most effective methods would be for nations to decide on an embargo on Russian oil. India must cooperate with other nations to achieve this. Such a move would help India make amends for abstaining from the UNSC vote condemning the invasion, a move which had caused India considerable loss of goodwill.

TN Budget neglects health

In the Tamil Nadu budget for 2022-23, even though the total outstanding debt of the government is projected at ₹6,53,348.73 cr, the state government has not thought it fit to have a relook at freebies like free ration, free bus ride, etc. Failure to allocate substantial funds for creating more water resources and reduction in allocation for health and family welfare show that the government is not keen on bringing a bright future for the state.

Manmade disaster in Kerala

Four migrant workers died at a construction site in Kochi when a heap of soil fell on them. It was alleged that no safety rules were followed at construction sites. Undoubtedly the unfortunate tragedy was manmade due to negligence and non-compliance of safety precautions. As some of the workers commented, migrant workers are considered slaves by their employers. This attitude should be changed and the state should honour the lives of guest workers.

Change in China stance

Prior to the BRICS summit, China's belligerent stance has changed to an inviting one towards India. Even though it's a ray of hope amidst the troubled relationship of India and China, the former should be cautious in treading the China waters. India should make the most of this golden opportunity and press China into swiftly finding a solution to the border issue. If the issue is not addressed now, then, after the conclusion of the summit, the strained relationship between the neighbours will be back to square one.

Congress on path to oblivion

The outcome of the so called introspection by the Congress following the repetition of electoral snub was in the expected lines. None of the so called leaders dares to tell that the Sonia family should step aside. One or two who manage to draw the courage to tell this but they will be subjected to disciplinary action. The party's total disappearance from the national scene seems to be too obvious.

GOP needs to re-emerge

It is good to know that patch up between dissidents and dynasty appears imminent. Sonia's entry may have salutary effect in placating dissidents leading to the re-emergence of the grand old party as a cohesive unit. Strong presence of Congress is essential for the country to provide an appropriate counter to the ruling dispensation. Group of regional parties even if they come together cannot match the potential of Congress to upset poll arithmetic. The forthcoming Presidential election will provide an opportunity for Congress to show its capacity to cobble together opposition parties.

Two doctors, an engineer in Mann cabinet

Giant-killers find no place in ministry as new Punjab CM goes for fair representation according to region and caste

HARPREET BAJWA @Chandigarh

TWO days after Bhagwant Singh Mann took charge as Punjab Chief Minister, his 10-member ministerial team was sworn in. There are eight first-time MLAs and two second-time legislators. All giant-killers and most of the second-timers were overlooked.

There are two doctors — Baljit Kaur and Vijay Singla — in the cabinet, which also has a mechanical engineer in Gurmeet Singh Meet Hayer.

Governor Banwarilal Purohit administered the oath of office and secrecy to the 10 in the presence of Chief Minister Mann at Punjab Raj Bhawan. None of ministers are from big cities like Amritsar, Jalandhar, Ludhiana, Patiala and Bathinda. Delhi Chief Minister and national convenor of AAP, Arvind Kejriwal and other senior party leaders from Delhi were not present.

According to sources, after a series of discussions between Mann and the party leadership, names of the ministers were finalised. There are 18 berths in the cabinet, including that of the Chief Minister. Seven are yet to be filled.

NEW ADVOCATE GENERAL NAMED

The AAP government on Saturday appointed senior advocate Dr Anmol Rattan Sidhu as the Advocate General of Punjab. Sidhu has been Additional Solicitor General of India

There was intense lobbying from some of the MLAs, including a second-time woman MLA and a first-time MLA from the Majha region but Mann is believed to be keen on a lean cabinet initially. When a few senior MLAs were about their omission, they tried to play it down saying that they abide by the party's decision.

The AAP has tried to form a balanced cabinet, with representatiion from all three regions of the state. Five ministers are from Malwa region, where the party won 66 of 69 seats. Four are from Majha region where AAP contested in 25 seats and won 16. Only one is from Doaba region. where the party won 10 of 23.

Other than region, caste questions were also considered. Four ministers — Harpal Singh Cheema, Kaur, Lal Chand Kataruchak, Harbhajan Singh — are from reserved categories. Gurmeet Singh Meet Hayer, Harjot Singh Bains, Kuldeep Singh Dhaliwal and Laljit Singh Bhullar are Jat Sikhs. CM Mann is also a Jat Sikh, which makes it five from the community in the cabinet. Vijay Singla and Brahm Shankar Jimpa are the Hindu faces. The only woman minister is Kaur.

In first decision, CM announces 25K govt jobs in Punjab

HARPREET BAJWA @Chandigarh

THE Punjab government on Saturday announced it would provide 25,000 government jobs in various departments, boards and corporations and also decided to present a vote on account for three months in the ongoing assembly session.

Announcing these decisions after the first meeting of the newly-constituted cabinet, which was sworn in earlier in the day, chief minister Bhagwant Mann said "this historic decision would open new vistas of employment for the youth by providing the jobs to them in the government through a transparent and merit-based mechanism."

Out of the 25,000 jobs, 10,000 would be offered in various posts of the Punjab Police and the remaining 15,000 would be given in other departments, including boards and corporations.

"The process of advertisement and notification of these jobs would be initiated within a month. As promised, job opportunities for Punjab's youth will be the topmost priority of the Aam Aadmi Party government," Mann said.

Unemployment was one of the main issues in the recently-concluded state assembly elections and the AAP had made it one if its major poll planks. Most of the voters said the jobless youth were feeding the drug problem, which in turn was driving parents to send their children abroad.

According to the Centre for Monitoring Indian Economy's latest unemployment report, over eight lakh people are unemployed in Punjab, with a big chunk constituting graduates. The report said over 16% of the workforce with graduate degrees and higher educational qualifications were unemployed.

The latest employment figures on the website of the Punjab Ghar Ghar Rozgar & Karobar Mission under the state's Department of Employment Generation, said more than 13.76 lakh had registered with the mission for employment, but there were only 10,223 government jobs available, 1,843 in the private sector.

The cabinet also cleared the presentation of supplementary demands for grants for 2021-22 to be presented in the assembly session. This decision would provide budget for additional or excess expenditure incurred by various departments to liquidate the pending liabilities. The cabinet also approved the supplementary demands for grants for 2021-22.

Manipur CM: Biren and Biswajit in Delhi again

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Guwahati

WITH the suspense over who will become Manipur's next chief minister intensifying, caretaker CM N Biren Singh and former minister Thongam Biswajit rushed to New Delhi on Saturday after being summoned by the BJP central leadership. Party sources said they went in separate flights from Imphal.

This is the second time in five days that the BJP leadership has summoned the duo to Delhi. During the earlier visit on Tuesday, Manipur BJP chief A Sharda Devi had accompanied the duo. They had then travelled by a chartered flight and returned to Imphal two days later.

Union Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman and Union Law Minister Kiren Rijiju, who have been appointed as the BJP's observer and co-observer respectively for Manipur, are likely to arrive in the state on Sunday.

These two will meet all BJP MLAs and share their feedback with the party's central leadership. The name of the chief minister is expected to be announced after that.

The visit of the two Union ministers has been delayed due to Holi – Yaoshang in Manipur. It is celebrated for five days in the state.

Upon his arrival in Imphal from New Delhi on Thursday, Biswajit — the state's senior most BJP MLA in terms of association — had stated that a colourful day would be coming to Manipur along with the colourful festival.

Going by what has been happening, it seems as if the chief minister is going to be either Biren Singh or Biswajit.

Opposition leaders likely at Yogi swearing-in on March 25

NAMITA BAJPAI @Lucknow

AFTER leading the saffron brigade to a historic win with two-third majority in the recent Uttar Pradesh Assembly elections, Yogi Adityanath, in all probability, will be sworn in for his second consecutive term as chief minister on March 25.

The venue for the oath-taking ceremony will be Atal Bihari Vajpayee Stadium in Lucknow, which has a capacity of 50,000.

Top BJP leaders, including Prime Minister Narendra Modi, Union Home Minister Amit Shah, Defence Minister Rajnath Singh, party president JP Nadda, chief ministers of BJP-ruled states, office-bearers of RSS are expected to attend the ceremony.

Invitations will also be extended to top opposition leaders as well, including former chief ministers — BSP supremo Mayawati, SP patriarch Mulayam Singh Yadav and SP chief Akhilesh Yadav. From Congres, party president Sonia Gandhi and Priyanka Gandhi Vadra are also in the list of invitees, said sources.

As per sources, the government is likely to be formed along the lines of the Modi cabinet at the Centre. The new cabinet is likely to consist of bureaucrats who won elections on BJP tickets. Former IAS officer AK Sharma is among the probables. The number of women ministers is likely to go up.

FRESH FACES LIKELY IN MINISTRY

The new cabinet is likely to have fresh faces. Amit Agrawal, Baby Rani Maurya, Anjula Mahaur, Rajesh Tripathi, Krishna Paswan are the BJP MLAs who could become ministers.

Rajbhar says reports of him meeting Shah in Delhi false

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Lucknow

THE political corridors of Uttar Pradesh are abuzz with reports of Suheldev Bharatiya Samaj Party (SBSP) chief OP Rajhbhar meeting Union Home Minister Amit Shah in Delhi on Friday afternoon.

With speculations rife about Rajbhar joining NDA sooner or later, the SBSP chief, on Saturday, termed the reports a "fake narrative being created on social media." He reiterated that his alliance with SP was intact. Even BJP leaders did not confirm the meeting.

Highly-placed sources claimed that Rajbhar met the Shah on Friday afternoon in the presence of UP election incharge and Union minister Dharmendra Pradhan and BJP organisational general secretary Sunil Bansal. The meeting lasted over an hour.

SBSP had contested the recent elections with SP and six of its 17 candidates including Rajbhar, have made it to the Assembly. His son Arvind lost from Shivpur in Varanasi.

The SBSP chief categorically denied going to Delhi or meeting anyone. "I'm busy in preparations for local body polls, working to make candidates of the SP alliance victorious," he said on Saturday .

Asked about his photos with Shah, Rajbhar said those were old photos. "Someone can repost old photos," he said.

Uttarakhand CM likely to be named on Monday

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Dehradun

THE BJP is likely to announce the name of the new chief minister of Uttarakhand on Monday. The oath ceremony is likely to happen later next week.

Sources said that the party was waiting for the festival of Holi to get over. "The meeting of the legislature party group is likely to take place on March 21, where the formal announcement on the next CM of Uttarakhand can happen. The oath ceremony can take place later in the week," said a state party functionary.

Prime Minister Narendra Modi, Union Home Minister Amit Shah and BJP's national president JP Nadda is likely to attend the oath ceremony.

The names of acting Chief Minister Pushkar Singh Dhami, senior minister Dhan Singh Rawat, former CM Ramesh Pokhriyal Nishank are doing the rounds.

Six BJP MLAs have announced they are ready to vacate their seats for Chief Minister Dhami to contest.

In July last year, after Dhami was chosen as CM, seniors including Satpal Maharaj, Harak Singh Rawat, Yashpal Arya and Bishan Singh Chuphal were not happy.

Almost every senior leader who has won more than two Assembly elections is presenting herself/imself as the suitable candidate. Erstwhile minister and MLA from Mussoorie, Ganesh Joshi said that he is a suitable person. Rekha Arya also expressed her desire to become the CM of the state.

BJP candidate against ally in bypoll, NDA in Bihar faces turmoil

RAMASHANKAR @Patna

THE NDA in Bihar is in turmoil. BJP has announced it will contest the by-election from Bochaha Assembly constituency earlier held by its ally Vikassheel Insaan Party (VIP) led by Mukesh Sahani.

BJP announced former MLA Baby Kumari's name as its official candidate. Voting will be held on April 12. Baby had earlier won from the seat as an Independent in 2015 and later lent her support to the saffron party.

In 2020, the seat went to VIP under the seat sharing agreement among the four constituents of the NDA. Musafir Paswan had emerged the winner. The seat fell vacant after his death last November.

Soon after the BJP announcement, Sahani tweeted, "Thanks for this Holi gift". He got support from another NDA ally — Hindustan Awami Morcha (HAM). HAM spokesperson Danish Rizwan said, "It is a wrong precedent in the coalition. The seat was earlier held by VIP and it should have been maintained by the coalition partner."

The Bochaha by-poll has become a bone of contention between BJP and VIP, especially after the Uttar Pradesh election. Sahani's decision to contest the election in Uttar Pradesh and fielding candidates against BJP nominees in 53 constituencies had irked top leaders of the BJP.

Sahani is a minister in the NDA government led by Chief Minister Nitish Kumar. What irked BJP the most was the VIP supremo's outburst against Prime Minister Narendra Modi and UP Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath. Moreover, Sahani exhorted his supporters to vote against BJP to ensure the defeat of Adityanath.

The VIP, however, failed to win a single seat. Demands of dropping Sahani from the state cabinet grew louder after the UP election results were announced on March 10.

Sahani had earlier expressed his intention to field a candidate from Bochana. "We will not bow to the pressure."

'Gujarat Cong to lose MLAs'

Ahmedabad: BJP is trying to lure 10 Congress MLAs in Gujarat ahead of Assembly polls, an advisor to Rajasthan Chief Minister Ashok Gehlot has claimed. Sanyam Lodha, an Independent MLA from Sirohi in Rajasthan, also said he has informed the Congress leadership and its Gujarat unit chief, Raghu Sharma, about the "inputs" he has received. Assembly elections in Gujarat are scheduled to be held at the end of this year.

Sisodioa cryptic about Gita move

Ahmedabad: The Gujarat government has announced in the Assembly that Bhagavad Gita will be included in the school curriculum for classes VI to XII. This move was welcomed by Delhi Deputy CM Manish Sisodia, who also took a dig at the ministers of the state. "Surely it is a great step, but those who are announcing it, first they should follow the values of Gita. His deeds are like that of Ravana and he talks about the Gita."

Ukrainian embassy takes offence to Indian media reports on Crimea

YESHI SELI @New Delhi

THE Ukrainian embassy in the national capital has lashed out against a section of Indian media which recently published an article commemorating eight years of Crimea's annexation to Russia.

"We are deeply shocked by the Holi present that included publishing a separate page devoted to eight years of Russian annexation of Crimea. As you might be aware, this was not recognised by any country," Igor Polikha, Ukraine's ambassador to India, said in a written communication addressed to the segment of media that printed this article.

He went on to allege that 'blood money' was paid for printing this article, as they did not care for thousands of Ukrainians killed and injured due to shelling of residential areas in Ukraine, which has led to over 3 million Ukrainians leaving their homeland.

"I would like to remind that on March 27, 2014, the UN General Assembly (UNGA) adopted a resolution which reaffirmed the territorial integrity of Ukraine within its internationally recognised borders. The UNGA introduced the policy of non-recognition of Russian occupation of Crimea and the city of Sevastopol," Polikha added.

Ever since the outbreak of the conflict in Ukraine on February 24, Polikha has been seeking India's intervention and support in resolving this issue. Last month, he had compared the Ukrainian conflict to 'massacre arranged by the Mughals against the Rajputs'. He also met officials of the external affairs ministry.

Won't need CRPF in Kashmir in future: Shah

Control on militancy achieved, democracy reached grassroots after Art 370 revocation, claims the home minister

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

UNION Home Minister Amit Shah on Saturday claimed that after Article 370 revocation there has been decisive control on militancy and that democracy has reached the grassroots for the first time in Jammu and Kashmir. He asserted that CRPF might not be needed in the North East or Kashmir after a few years.

Addressing the 83rd CRPF Raising Day function in Jammu on Saturday, the home minister said, "After Narendra Modi became Prime Minister in 2014, there has been a big change in the situation of J&K and democracy has begun to function." It was for the first time that CRPF celebrated its Raising Day outside Delhi.

Democracy has reached grassroots level in J&K for the first time, he said. "Over 30,000 peoples' representatives have become part of the democratic process and there are panchs and sarpanchs in every village," he said.

On August 5, centre scrapped J&K's special status and bifurcated the state into two Union Territories. The home minister said the abrogation has benefitted backward classes, women and hill peoples. "They were in some ways cut off from the development process and now through the new laws all-inclusive development has begun."

He said after scrapping of Article 370 under leadership of Prime Minister Narendra Modi, the dream of one chief, one insignia and one legislation, both of which were dreams of Shyama Prasad Mukherjee and Pandit Premnath Dogra, have been fulfilled.

Praising J&K Lt Governor Manoj Sinha, the home minister said the UT administration has been successful in receiving investment worth over Rs. 33,000 crore. "Besides, records have been broken in road construction in J&K, with work in this area in the last five years being competed at the fastest pace since Independence."

Shah said that there was a time when violence was at its peak in the 1990s in Naxals-affected areas, North East and Pakistan-sponsored terrorism in Kashmir.

"I am hopeful that North East, J&K, and Maoist-affected areas in the country will experience lasting peace in the coming years and CRPF will not be required in these areas," the home minister said.

Leh highway reopened in record time of 73 days

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Srinagar

THE strategic 434 km Srinagar-Leh national highway was thrown open for vehicular traffic in a record time of just 73 days, thus paving way for the transport of army men and equipment from Srinagar to the Line of Actual Control.

The Srinagar-Leh highway, which connects Srinagar with Ladakh, was closed for vehicular traffic on January 4 following heavy snowfall.

The highway was thrown open today for traffic at the Zojila Pass, which is situated at an altitude of 11,650 feet metres by Border Roads Organisation (BRO) Director General Lt General Rajeev Chaudhary.

A trial movement of vehicles was conducted successfully. The decision to open the road for civilian vehicles would be taken by the administration.

Talking to reporters, Lt General Chaudhary said the highway, which is key to operational preparedness of troops in Ladakh, was thrown open in record 73 days this year.

"It is a huge achievement for both Project Beacon, which manages the highway in J&K, and Project Vijayak, which manages it in Ladakh UT," Lt General Chaudhary said. Last year, the highway was thrown open after 110 days.

Earlier, the highway used to remain closed for six months due to heavy snowfall. The average closure of pass in earlier years has been 135 days.

Lt General Chaudhary said re-opening of the highway sooner has many advantages strategically besides socio-economic factor.

"From the strategic point of view, transportation of ammunition and logistics or anything else for our troops deployed in Ladakh will reach sooner now due to opening of the highway," the BRO chief said.

Judges-led advisory board to review NSA cases formed

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

AN advisory board comprising three sitting judges of the Delhi High Court has been constituted by the Ministry of Home Affairs (MHA) to review the cases registered under the stringent National Security Act (NSA). Those persons charged under the Act can be detained up to a year without any charge.

According to an official notification issued on Saturday, Justice Yogesh Khanna will be the chairman of the advisory board while justices Chandra Dhari Singh and Rajnish Bhatnagar will be members of the high-powered body. Such an advisory board is constituted under Section 9 of the 1980 Act.

The NSA empowers the government to detain a person for up to 12 months without a charge if it considers the individual a threat to national security or to prevent him or her from disrupting public order. The detained person can be held for 10 days without being told the charges against him or her. As per the Act the detainee can appeal only before the advisory board for relief but will not be allowed a lawyer during the trial.

"In the case of every NSA detainee, the government concerned shall, within three weeks from the date of detention, place before the advisory board the grounds on which the order has been made and the representation, if any, made by the detainee," reported an agency.

"The advisory board shall, after considering the materials placed before it and after hearing the detainee, submit its report to the government within seven weeks from the date of detention of the person concerned," it said.

No official statistics since 2019

Going by data, nearly 1,200 people across the country were detained until 2018. There is no official data available about NSA detainees since 2019. It was during the Indira Gandhi government of the 1980 that the NSA was enacted

SC man killed for sporting moustache

RAJESH ASNANI @ Jaipur

A healthcare worker belonging to the Scheduled Caste community in Rajasthan's Pali district was allegedly killed by two upper-caste men because they could not tolerate his moustache and good lifestyle after getting a government job. Jitendra Pal Meghwal was working in a government hospital and had put up some pictures of himself with a moustache on social media.

Meghwal was murdered when he was returning home from the hospital on Tuesday. Police investigations have revealed that the alleged assailants, Suraj Singh Rajpurohit and Ramesh Singh Rajpurohit, reportedly travelled 800 km on a two-wheeler to kill Meghwal. In Rajasthan, moustaches are seen as a symbol of pride and his pictures offended the upper caste men.

Both the accused had shifted to Surat, in Gujarat a few months ago. According to Pali Superintendent of Police Rajan Dushyant, the accused killed the youth with a knife in a planned manner. Meghwal's killing sparked widespread protests. It was only after the arrest of the accused that the protests ended although a huge resentment continues.

The police said after seeing Meghwal's photo on social media, the culprits left Surat on motorcycle on March 13 and reached Pali the next day. The accused reached Meghwal's village, tracked him down and then stabbed him to death.

The police said two accused had a fight with Meghwal even in 2020 as the SC youth had made direct eye contact with the upper caste culprits. Suraj and Ramesh Singh went to Meghwal's house and beat him. After the incident, both the accused had shifted to Surat.

4 held in connection with kabaddi player's murder

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

IN less than a week after an international kabaddi player was killed, Punjab Police have solved the high-profile murder case with the arrest of four accused persons who are history-sheeters. Police also nominated three main conspirators in the murder case.

Prominent Kabaddi player Sandeep Singh alias Sandeep Nangal Ambia was shot dead by five assailants during a Kabaddi match in Mallian near Jalandhar around 6 pm on March 14.

Those arrested have been identified as Fateh Singh, Kaushal Chaudhary, Amit Dagar, Simranjeet Singh.

The Police have also nominated three main conspirators identified as Snover Dhillon a residing in, Canada and is a multimedia producer and director, Sukhwinder Singh also residing in Canada and Jagjit Singh, residing in Malaysia.

Divulging the details, DGP Punjab V K Bhawra said the Jalandhar police had brought Fateh Singh on production warrant. He said that, during interrogation Fateh disclosed that Snover Dhillon had formed National Kabaddi Federation of Ontario and tried to convince different players to join his federation. However, most of the renowned players were associated with the Major League Kabaddi being managed by the deceased Sandeep, rendering Snover's federation unsuccessful.

JIBE AT MODI

Rahul raises inflation, job loss in tweet

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

RAHUL GANDHI continued to spare no effort in attacking PM Narendra Modi's economic policies, in spite of the growing dissidence within the Congress in the wake of the its defeat in the assembly polls.

On early Saturday morning, Gandhi, taking to Twitter, cautioned the nation that inflation will rise further in the country and unemployment has been growing by leaps and bounds.

"Inflation is a TAX on ALL Indians. Record price rise had crushed the poor and middle class even before the Ukraine war began," he tweeted.

He said that the inflation will continue increasing in the country; so the Government of Indian (GoI) must act now. He asked the government to protect the people.

In the same tweet, he said: "It (inflation) will increase further as: -Crude>$100 barrel, Food prices expected to rise 22%-COVID disrupts Global Supply Chain.".

Earlier, he had also attacked the government saying that common citizens are facing consequences of wrong policies of government as FD-5.1 per cent; PPF-7.1 per cent and EPF-8.1 per cent have gone down while retail inflation has gone up to 6.07 per cent and wholesale inflation up to 13.11 per cent in the country.

SUSTAINABLE TOURISM

After rural tourism, policy on homestays to be next big thing

PARVEZ SULTAN @ New Delhi

AFTER rural and sustainable tourism, the next big thing on the agenda of the ministry of tourism is promotion of rural homestays. To facilitate and encourage stakeholders to create accommodations in villages and rural areas offering authentic local experience, the ministry has drafted a National Strategy for Promotion of Rural Homestay (NSPRH) – under which several reliefs, exemptions and financial assistance to individuals, companies, and self-help groups are proposed.

One of the incentives offered in the strategy is that for setting up a homestay accommodation, the proprietor will not need to obtain a permit from the authority.

It further proposes that rural homestays should be considered eligible projects under Micro, Small and Medium Enterprises (MSME) service of the Central and state Governments so that they can avail the benefits under those schemes.

The draft of the NSPRH also says that governments should frame dedicated schemes to provide subsidy for a new set-up or subsidy of 30 per cent of the capital invested subject to a ceiling of ₹1 lakh per lettable space with a maximum six rooms.

To make a homestay project a more financially viable enterprise, the ministry's document suggests that private properties offering lodging and food to tourists in rural areas should not be treated as commercial entities and domestic power and water tariff should be applicable.

No entertainment or other commercial tax will be imposed on rural homestays in connection with food, lodging or cultural activities, says the draft.

The official said that the NSPRH is an initiative towards Atmanirbhar Bharat in accordance with the vision of the Prime Minister of making India a self-reliant nation.

"The NSPRH is in line with the national strategies for rural tourism and sustainable tourism. The policy is in public domain. Last date of sending feedback is April 15," said an official.

Zoo gets Himalayan bear, slow loris & leopard cat

After a gap of seven years, vibrancy returned to the leopard enclosure with the arrival of two leopard cats at the Lucknow zoological gardens recently. The leopard enclosure had been lying vacant ever since the death of the last big cat due to kidney failure in 2015. Besides two leopard cats, three slow loris and two Himalayan bears are the new members. The slow loris are nocturnal primates. Leopard cat is a small wild cat native to east Asian nations. Besides the Himalayas, the Himalayan bear is found in west Asian nations.

22 mosques defer Friday namaz timing for Holi

At least 22 mosques had altered the timing for Juma namaz (Friday prayer) in view of Holi celebrations in City of Nawabs. Juma namaz along with the khutba (discourse) held on the day, is offered after 12.30 pm as the routine. This time, in view of the advisory issued by Islamic Centre of India (ICI), at least 22 mosques in the city decided to shift the time and hold Friday prayers after 1.30 pm. These include renowned mosques like the Jama Masjid at Aishbagh Eidgah, Ek Minara Masjid, Masjid Shahmina Shah and Masjid Chowk. At the Jama Masjid Eidgah the time has been shifted to 2pm from 12.45pm. Similarly, at Masjid Shahmina Shah, Juma namaz was held at 1.30 pm at instead of the regular 1 pm. ICI head Maulana Khalid Rasheed Farangi Mahali had issued an advisory in this regard.

Holi with a difference at Dewa Sharif

The Holi celebrations at 'Dewa Sharif', the dargah of 18th century Sufi saint Haji Waris Ali Shah, in Dewa town of Barabanki are unique. Keeping the Ganga-Jamni Tahzeeb alive, both Hindus and Muslims celebrate the festival of colours in harmony. The Holi play involved rose petals abeer and gulaal. The Sufi saint is revered as a harbinger of peace and amity as he spread his message of: 'Jo Rab hai wahi Ram hai'. Perhaps it is the only Dargah where the festival is celebrated with gusto inside the campus, if not inside the tomb. It is not known how long this tradition has been followed, but at least a century old.

'Baba Bulldozer' pichkaris fly off shelves

'Bulldozer', the word frequently used by CM Yogi Adityanath to warn criminals, became so popular that makers of Holi paraphernalia cashed on in by branding the pichkaris as 'Baba Bulldozer' symbolising Yogi. The Holi markets were flooded with 'Baba Bulldozer' pichkaris (water guns), along with the traditional Banarasi ones in Varanasi. The water guns, made of plastic, were shaped like a bulldozer. The shopkeepers in Varanasi made hay with the bulldozer water guns which drew a good number of customers and sale of was brisk even days before the festival of colours.

ZELENSKYY WARNS WAR WILL COST RUSSIA FOR GENERATIONS

Mass rally in Moscow illustrates stakes of largest ground conflict in Europe since World War II, says Ukraine prez | Asks Putin to meet him to prevent bloodshed

LVIV

UKRAINE'S president said Russia is trying to starve his country's cities into submission but warned Saturday that continuing the invasion would exact a toll on Russia for "generations." The remarks came after Moscow held a mass rally in support of its bogged-down forces.

Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskyy accused the Kremlin in an overnight video address of deliberately creating "a humanitarian catastrophe " and appealed again for Russian President Vladimir Putin to meet with him to prevent more bloodshed.

Noting that the 200,000 people reported to have attended the rally was similar to the number of Russian forces deployed to Ukraine, Zelenskyy said Friday's event in Moscow illustrated the stakes of the largest ground conflict in Europe since World War II.

"Picture for yourself that in that stadium in Moscow there are 14,000 dead bodies and tens of thousands more injured and maimed," the Ukrainian leader said, standing outside the presidential office in the capital, Kyiv. "Those are the Russian costs throughout the invasion."

Putin lavished praise on his country's military forces during Friday's flag-waving rally, which took place on the anniversary of Russia's 2014 annexation of Crimea from Ukraine. The event included patriotic songs such as "Made in the U.S.S.R.," with the opening lines "Ukraine and Crimea, Belarus and Moldova, it's all my country."

"We have not had unity like this for a long time," Putin told the cheering crowd.

Volodymyr Zelenskyy

Taking to the stage where a sign read "For a world without Nazism," he railed against his foes in Ukraine with a baseless claim that they are "neo-Nazis" and insisted his actions were necessary to prevent "genocide" — an idea flatly rejected by leaders around the globe.

The rally took place as Russia has faced heavier-than-expected losses on the battlefield and increasingly authoritarian rule at home. Russian police have detained thousands of antiwar protesters.

Fighting raged on multiple fronts in Ukraine more than three weeks after Russia's Feb. 24 invasion. U.N. bodies have confirmed more than 800 civilian deaths since the war began but say the real toll is considerably higher. The U.N. says more than 3.3 million people have fled Ukraine as refugees.

4 US soldiers in Norway during drill

Helsinki: Four US soldiers were killed when their Osprey aircraft crashed in a Norwegian town in the Arctic Circle during a NATO exercise unrelated to the Ukraine war, Norway's prime minister and defense officials said on Saturday. Jonas Gahr Stoere tweeted that they were killed in the crash on Friday night. The cause was under investigation, but Norwegian police reported bad weather in the area. "The soldiers participated in the NATO exercise Cold Response," Gahr Stoere said. "Our deepest sympathies go to the soldiers' families and fellow soldiers in their unit."

Russia admits to firing hypersonic missiles

KYIV

RUSSIA on Saturday admitted to using advanced hypersonic missiles for the first time in the Ukraine conflict as Kyiv's embattled leader called for urgent peace talks.

Moscow also said its troops had broken Ukrainian defences to enter the strategic southern port city of Mariupol and destroyed radio and intelligence sites just outside Odessa.

Ukrainian authorities said they had "temporarily" lost access to the Sea of Azov although Russia has effectively controlled the coastline for weeks after ringing Mariupol.

Russia said it had on Friday used the Kinzhal (Dagger) high-precision hypersonic missile, which can elude most defence systems, to destroy an arms depot in Deliatyn, a village near the border with Romania.

Moscow has never admitted using the state-of-the-art missile in combat before. "The enemy targeted our depots" but "we have no information of the type of missile," said Ukrainian air force spokesman Yuri Ignat.

"There has been damage, destruction and the detonation of munitions," he said. "They are using all the missiles in their arsenal against us."

Ukraine claimed on Saturday that a Russian general had been killed by strikes on an airfield outside Kherson, just north of Crimea, saying he was the fifth top-ranking officer killed since the invasion began on February 24.

A US official said Russia's offensive remains largely stalled overall, with troops about 30km east of the capital Kyiv and facing heavy resistance.

Britain's defence ministry said Russia was struggling to provide its forward troops "with even basic essentials such as food and fuel" because of Ukrainian attacks on their supply lines.

British Foreign Secretary Liz Truss accused Moscow of using the talks as a "smokescreen" as it carried out "appalling atrocities," saying she was "very sceptical" they would produce a breakthrough.

Moscow has increasingly turned to indiscriminate air and long-range strikes.

Friday's attack on the arms depot was the latest strike in western Ukraine, which until a few days ago had remained relatively unscathed by Russia's push toward key cities. AFP

Mykolaiv barrack attack leaves over 50 dead

MYKOLAIV

THE soldier's face is caked in dust which leaves only his blue eyes just about visible. But he is alive in the ruined aftermath of a Russian military strike on a barracks at Mykolaiv which left dozens dead in the southern Ukrainian town.

Witnesses said six rockets hit the site, which originally had served as a young officers' academy, around six o'clock in the morning on Friday.

"An enormous explosion," says one resident, Nikolai. The blast reduced to rubble several buildings in the district.

"No less than 200 soldiers were sleeping in the barracks," says Maxim, 22, who had been stationed nearby and looks on aghast at the scale of the destruction. "At least 50 bodies have been pulled out but we don't know how many remain under the debris," he says.

Another soldier, Yevgeny, says as many as 100 people could have been killed, in an attack with no official toll to date and details of which remain hazy. Ukrainian authorities say only that Mykolaiv, which they describe as being a "shield" to the key strategic military port of Odessa, some 130km further west, is resisting Russian attacks and pushing back the invaders' assaults. Kyiv authorities have been saying for several days that Russian forces have been pushed back towards Kherson, another southern town further to the east and under Russian control. Russian strikes which have been hitting civilian targets as well as military facilities for the past fortnight, continue to be relentless.

"Yesterday orcs hit our sleeping soldiers with a rocket," Vitaly Kim, head of the regional administration, said in a video, using the Ukrainian nickname for Russian forces.

Rescuers and firefighters have been working at the razed site since Friday, accompanied by the throbbing sound of an excavator clearing the enormous heap of stones, concrete and twisted metal rods. AFP

Denied swift victory, Russian military maintains strong hand

WASHINGTON

THE signs are abundant of how Ukraine frustrated Vladimir Putin's hopes for a swift victory and how Russia's military proved far from ready for the fight.

A truck carrying Russian troops crashes, its doors blown open by a rocket-propelled grenade. Foreign-supplied drones target Russian command posts. Orthodox priests in trailing vestments parade Ukraine's blue and yellow flag in defiance of their Russian captors in the occupied city of Berdyansk.

Russia has lost hundreds of tanks, and its death toll is on a pace to outstrip that of the country's previous military campaigns in recent years.

Yet more than three weeks into the war, with Putin's initial aim of an easy change in government in Kyiv long gone, Russia's military still has a strong hand.

With their greater might and stockpile of city-flattening munitions, Russian forces can fight on for whatever the Russian president may plan next, military analysts say.

Despite all the determination of Ukraine's people, all the losses among Russia's forces and all the errors of Kremlin leaders, there is no sign that the war will soon be over.

Even if Putin fails to take control of his neighbor, he can keep up the punishing attacks on its cities and people. AP

Ranked saddest country in Happiness Index

Kabul: Afghanistan is the unhappiest country in the world — even before the Taliban swept to power last August. That's according to a so-called World Happiness report released ahead of the UN-designated International Day of Happiness on Sunday. The annual report ranked Afghanistan as last among 149 countries surveyed, with a happiness rate of just 2.5. Lebanon was the world's second saddest country, with Botswana, Rwanda and Zimbabwe rounding out the bottom five. Researchers ranked the countries after analyzing data over three years. They looked at several categories including gross domestic product per capita, social safety nets, life expectancy, freedom to make life choices, generosity of the population, and perceptions of internal and external corruption levels. AFP

MYANMAR

Int'l passenger flights to resume on April 17

Yangon: Myanmar will resume international passenger flights from April 17, the military said on Saturday, lifting a two-year ban on foreign tourists. The Southeast Asian nation closed its borders to visitors in March 2020 at the beginning of the coronavirus pandemic in an attempt to prevent rising infections. Myanmar was further isolated after a coup last year saw huge protests and a bloody military crackdown on dissent, sending its economy into freefall. "We will open all international flights on 17 April, and can fly as regularly," said the National Central Committee on Prevention, Control and Treatment of Coronavirus Disease. In a statement it said the decision was "in order to improve the tourism sector, and to have smooth trip for visitors." AFP

US upset over Syrian president's UAE visit

DUBAI

SYRIAN President Bashar al-Assad's visit to the United Arab Emirates left the US "profoundly disappointed", it said on Saturday, urging allies to avoid normalising ties with a regime accused of "horrific atrocities".

Assad's surprise trip on Friday was his first official visit to an Arab country since civil war erupted in his country in 2011, killing close to half a million people.

It was the latest sign of warming relations between Syria and energy-rich UAE – a key US ally which also normalised ties with Israel in 2020. "We are profoundly disappointed and troubled by this apparent attempt to legitimise Bashar al-Assad," US State Department spokesman Ned Price said in a statement on Saturday.

Assad, he said, "remains responsible and accountable for the death and suffering of countless Syrians, the displacement of more than half of the pre-war Syrian population, and the arbitrary detention and disappearance of over 150,000 Syrian men, women and children.

As US Secretary of State Antony "Blinken has reiterated, we do not support efforts to rehabilitate Assad, and we do not support others normalising relations," Price said.

"We have been clear about this with our partners... (and) we urge states considering engagement with the Assad regime to weigh carefully the horrific atrocities visited by the regime."

Friday's visit by Assad to the UAE came as Russia pressed its war on Ukraine. Syria's war erupted in March 2011 after the brutal repression of anti-government protests, and a year later the UAE, like most Arab countries, broke ties with Damascus.

But the UAE reopened its embassy in the Syrian capital in December 2018, suggesting an effort to bring Assad's regime back into the Arab fold. AFP

Sri Lanka cancels school exams over paper shortage

COLOMBO

SRI LANKA cancelled exams for millions of school students as the country ran out of printing paper with Colombo short on dollars to finance imports, officials said on Saturday.

Education authorities said the term tests, scheduled a week from Monday, were postponed indefinitely due to an acute paper shortage as Sri Lanka contends with its worst financial crisis since independence in 1948. "School principals cannot hold the tests as printers are unable to secure foreign exchange to import necessary paper and ink," the department of education said.

Official sources said the move could effectively hold up tests for around two thirds of the country's 4.5 million students.

Term tests are part of a continuous assessment process to decide if students are promoted to the next grade at the end of the year. A debilitating economic crisis brought on by a shortage of foreign exchange reserves to finance essential imports, has seen the country run low on food, fuel and medicine. The cash-strapped country announced this week that it will seek an IMF bailout to resolve its worsening foreign debt crisis and shore up external reserves.

IMF on Friday confirmed it was considering President Gotabaya Rajapaksa's surprise Wednesday request to discuss a bailout. AFP

RELIANCE'S 'CAPTURE' RAISES QUESTIONS

GURBIR SINGH

AMAZON has to still get used to the street-fighting ways in India. From the night of 25 February last month, Reliance Retail staff in the dead of night began entering Big Bazaar stores and outlets all over the country belonging to Kishore Biyani's Future Retail Group. Overnight, hundreds of Future Group's retail assets were 'seized' and rebranded.

Amazon has been in a see-saw litigation with the Future Group and Reliance since 2020, and has so far blocked the ₹24,500 crore sale of Future's retail chain to Reliance. But it had not bargained for the forcible seizure of Future's assets. Reliance says it has taken over the stores after Future failed to pay rentals for years, and it is merely taking back its properties after cancelling the sub-leases for default. Two Future Group companies had confirmed to the bourses that they had indeed received termination notices for 893 leased outlets. But is it a bilateral deal or a forced takeover? The cloak-and-dagger operation buttressed perception that Mukesh Ambani's Reliance, in conjunction with Future, was taking a bypass route to acquire the latter's assets.

If the stores are transferred to Reliance, there will be nothing for Amazon to fight for, Amazon's lawyer Aspi Chinoy admitted frankly in court on Tuesday. But the shocker came the next day, when Future's Biyani told the apex court that Reliance's takeover was 'drastic and unilateral' and that he was committed to reverse the seizure of his outlets and "seek value adjustments".

If the 'takeover' of hundreds of stores did not have Future Retail's permission, and was not done by due process of law, doesn't it amount to forcible seizure of property? And isn't it a criminal offense? There's a legal process to cancel a lease agreement, and it cannot be unilateral. What exactly is going on?

High stakes

It's a battle of the Goliaths. Amazon, the world's biggest retailer with an annual revenue of $470 billion, came to India in 2013, and in less than a decade has created a huge digital marketplace. Reliance Retail, started earlier in 2006, and is the largest Indian retailer with revenues of over $22 billion a year. Over time, the Mukesh Ambani group has moved from its legacy business of oil and gas to retailing and telecom as its main focus. In this battle of the biggies, Kishore Biyani – the second biggest retailer and the man who built up the organised retail footprint with brands such as Big Bazaar, Pantaloon and E Zone – is sandwiched and bleeding, and is seeking an exit.

The roots of the dispute go back to 2019, when Future, seeking to survive, partnered Amazon with the US multinational investing $200 million in a Future Group company. The deal also included several non-compete clauses that prevented Future from selling out to Amazon rivals including Reliance Retail.

However, war broke out soon between the two sides when Future, hit by the Covid-19 pandemic, decided to sell its retail businesses to Reliance Retail in October 2020 for ₹24,500 crore. Amazon approached the Singapore Arbitration Tribunal, and had the sale stayed. Since then, the two sides have been involved in scorching litigation in Indian courts, with Future claiming the seat of arbitration is not Singapore, but New Delhi. There are high stakes involved. Amazon says the agreements it signed in 2019 with Future gave it special rights over Future's retail assets, and some of these would come to Amazon once rules for foreign investment in retail are eased. If the Future-Reliance deal goes through, Amazon's entire business plan would be at risk. On the other hand, for Reliance, the merger of its 1,100 supermarkets with Future's 1,500 stores network, would make its market position unassailable. Up for grabs is a $900 billion retail market, with 1.3 billion consumers.

Strange transfer of assets

The whirlpool of litigation will go on. Amazon and Future have both told the apex court its attempts at negotiating an agreement, allowed on 3 March by the court, had fallen through. The Supreme Court has meanwhile lifted a 5 January stay by the Delhi Hight Court on the Singapore Arbitration Tribunal Centre (SIAC) hearing the Amazon-Future Group dispute.

Some things are obvious to those who want to see it. It is difficult to imagine how such a large operation of taking over hundreds of Future's stores could have been planned and executed without the Future Group's nod. On the ground, there was no resistance. There does not seem to be any intervention by the police machinery either. Reliance is too big and too powerful for Amazon. It has state support too. The Mukesh Ambani conglomerate has already taken over one-third or close to 950 stores. The remaining 550 too will be passed on in the coming days. It appears what Amazon is saying is true: very soon the litigation over Future's assets will be purely academic as Reliance gobbles up the prize through side deals.

Can Amazon win in the long run? Perhaps, yes. It has deeper pockets, better technology and a huge advantage on the digital marketing formats.

$200 mn

Future partnered with the US multinational Amazon in 2019, and the latter invested $200 million in it. The deal also included several non-compete clauses that prevented Future from selling out to Amazon rivals including Reliance Retail.

RELIANCE TOO POWERFUL FOR AMAZON

The Mukesh Ambani conglomerate has already taken over one-third or close to 950 stores. The remaining 550 too will be passed on in the coming days. If the stores are transferred to Reliance, there will be nothing for Amazon to fight for.

Why IBC provision against frauds remain ineffective

675 applications filed with NCLT pointing out fraudulent transactions

DIPAK MONDAL

WHEN the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) finally registered a case against ABG Shipyard and its promoters for committing a loan fraud to the tune of ₹22,000 crore, all hell broke loose.

It was probably the biggest loan fraud case recorded in India, and even before the CBI caught up with the promoters of ABG Shipyard, information about their financial misadventures was already in public even if not many had paid attention to it.

The resolution professional handling the Surat-based shipping company's CIRP had detected several fraudulent transactions and had informed the same to the Ahmedabad bench of the National Company Law Tribunal (NCLT).

The resolution professional had pointed out over half-a-dozen such transactions involving over a thousand of crores. The NCLT while ordering the liquidation of ABG Shipyard in April 2019 had agreed with the resolution professional's findings. Yet it took almost three years for CBI to lodge a formal FIR against the company and its promoters.

Avoidance transactions

Under the provisions of Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code (IBC), the resolution professionals are supposed to find out if promoters of a company undergoing insolvency proceedings have committed any fraudulent transactions in the past. He/she has to then bring the same to the notice of the NCLT, which if finds merits in the findings may even order clawback or disgorgement of value lost through such avoidance transactions.

But despite these transactions being reported by resolution professionals, they are not necessarily leading to further investigations by government agencies like CBI or SFIO. The reason, experts believe is inability of the NCLT to close the applications on Avoidance Transactions on time giving the necessary legal sanctity to the findings of resolution professionals.

According to the Insolvency and Bankruptcy Board of India (IBBI), so far resolution professionals have filed 675 applications with NCLT pointing out fraudulent transactions to the tune of ₹2.05 lakh crore undertaken by the promoters of the companies undergoing insolvency process. But not many of these cases are reaching their logical conclusion – further investigations and action against the perpetrators.

"There have been practically zero disposal or may be a few disposals of those matters by NCLT. Unless the matter is disposed of one cannot say that there were Avoidance Transactions. The resolution professional can only produce the matter before the NCLT to take a view, because the RP is not an authority or a government investigator," points out a senior IBBI official, who requested anonymity.

Courts have also not helped much. In the Jaypee Infratech case, resolution professional Anuj Jain had pointed out illegal deals involving 900-acre land undertaken by the promoters. The NCLT agreed with the resolution professional's findings but NCLAT set it aside. However, the RP followed it up in the Supreme Court and he got a favourable order. The IBBI official quoted above said that thanks to the RP's perseverance that the avoidance transaction got established, however, he said that not all RPs might have taken the pain to follow it up in the SC. In another case, the Delhi HC observed that if an application of avoidance transaction has not been disposed of by the time the insolvency process is over, then the application lapses. This created a lot of uncertainty as the law says that CIRP can be disposed of even if the application of avoidance transaction goes on.

Also, the main objective of the law is to protect lenders' interest by avoiding preferential, undervalued, extortionate and fraudulent transactions. Therefore, the focus is more on clawback of lost value rather than the criminal proceedings against those involved in these transactions. Yogendra Aldak, partner with law firm Lakshmikumaran & Sridharan, however, says that Section 69 (of IBC) fixes criminal liability on anyone who is involved in a fraudulent transaction.

Section 69 (of IBC) fixes criminal liability on anyone who is involved in a fraudulent transaction.

YOGENDRA ALDAK

Further investigation

According to legal experts, if the amount involved in fraudulent transactions detected by the resolution professional is large then the Serious Fraud Investigation Office (SFIO) can be asked to investigate the matter.

The sources from IBBI official told TNIE that ABG Shipyard is one such case which was being investigated by the SFIO as well.

A corporate affairs ministry official told TNIE that so far less than 10 such cases – where avoidance transactions have been reported – are being investigated by the SFIO. "Typically, large cases involving Rs 500 or more are investigated by SFIO, but there have been cases involving lesser amounts have been asked to be investigated by SFIO keeping in mind the public interest," said a senior official from the corporate affairs ministry.

Meanwhile, in order to give more teeth to the law, the government wants to amend the law. The law would be amended to say that the application on avoidance transaction remains valid even after the closure of the insolvency case.

INSOLVENCY CASE

- IBC provides for avoidance of preferential, undervalued, extortionate and fraudulent transactions in order to protect lenders' interest.
- The Code enables NCLT to direct claw back of lost value from promoters/directors if they find involved in avoidance transaction.
- Section 69 of IBC fixes criminal liability on anyone who is involved in a fraudulent transaction.

675 applications pointing out fraudulent transactions have been filed by resolution professionals with NCLT so far.

₹2.04 L cr amount involved in the 675 applications of Avoidance Transaction filed with NCLT.

Japan to offer India $42 billion in investments

JAPANESE Prime Minister Fumio Kishida is expected to announce a plan to invest 5 trillion yen ($42 billion) in India over the next five years during his visit to the country on Saturday, according to a media report.

The 5 trillion yen goal exceeds the 3.5 trillion yen in investment and financing over the five years that the then Japanese Prime Minister Shinzo Abe announced during his 2014 visit to India, Japan's Nikkei newspaper reported.

Japan is currently supporting India's urban infrastructure development as well as a high-speed railway based on Japan's shinkansen bullet train technology.

Prime Minister Kishida is due to reveal the public-private funding during an economic forum. He is expected to pledge growth in direct investment in terms of value, as well as an increase in Japanese companies expanding into India.

Kishida is also poised to agree to an approximately 300 billion yen loan during his meeting with Prime Minister Narendra Modi. An energy cooperation document concerning carbon reduction is expected to be signed between the two sides.

During Saturday's public-private forum, Kishida is also expected to express his support to further infrastructure development in India with the goal of drawing Japanese companies to build factories. India represents the first leg of Kishida's three-day tour. He is scheduled to visit Cambodia on Sunday to meet with PM Hun Sen.

Japan and India are party to the Quadrilateral Security Dialogue, a security framework known as the Quad that includes the US and Australia. Cambodia serves as this year's chair of the Association of Southeast Asian Nations.

Kishida plans to confirm the strengthening of security arrangements with Russia's invasion of Ukraine in mind.

In 2020, Japan and India signed an acquisition and cross-servicing agreement, which allows for reciprocal provisions of food, fuel and other supplies between the Indian army and Japan's Self-Defense Forces. Kishida and Modi are to reaffirm that they will push that deal forward. They are expected to agree to convene a two-plus-two meeting between the two countries' diplomatic and defence chiefs at an early date. —PTI

ONDC to help small retailers serve customers: Goyal

THE Open Network for Digital Commerce (ONDC) will ensure that small retailers get an equal opportunity to engage with big firms, protect their businesses and serve customers with modern ways of delivery, Commerce and Industry Minister Piyush Goyal said on Saturday.

India is leading the world in building digital public infrastructure, he said at an entrepreneurship summit.

As UPI is to the digital payment domain, ONDC is to e-commerce in India. It will enable buyers and sellers to be digitally visible and transact through an open network, no matter what platform/application they use.

The ONDC team "is working to democratise e-commerce so that millions of small mom-and-pop stores all over the country and small retailers do not get extinguished like we have seen in the West, but get an equal opportunity to engage using digital technologies to protect businesses and grow their businesses and serve their customs with modern ways of delivery," he said.

ONDC received its certificate of incorporation as a private sector non-profit company on December 31, 2021.

A number of established companies have integrated with the platform and the government has already set up a nine-member advisory council, including Nandan Nilekani from Infosys and National Health Authority CEO R S Sharma, on steps required to design and accelerate the adoption of ONDC.

The minister suggested action agendas for entrepreneurs to promote innovation and boost the start-up ecosystem in the country. —PTI

Record tax collections

New Delhi: Reforms undertaken by the government within the Income Tax department and the "strengthening" of the Indian economy are among the major factors that led to the highest-ever direct tax collections in the country, which stand at over ₹13.63 lakh crore, CBDT Chairman J B Mohapatra said. He exuded confidence that the direct tax mop up will continue its present streak and the department will be able to target ₹14.20 lakh crore in taxes in the next fiscal.

Tax growth exposes forecasting inaccuracies

SUNITHA NATTI

THE estimates of FY22 tax revenue versus actual collections until last week shows the government's poor fiscal marksmanship, or the accuracy of budget forecasting, to some extent.

The revised budget estimates pegged gross tax revenue growth at 24.1% for FY22. But the first three quarters (April-December 2021) had already clocked in a 44.2% increase, which means, the revised estimates imply that gross tax revenue will decline by 14.8% in Q4, as per an RBI article titled Union Budget 2022-23: Some pleasant fiscal arithmetic, released last week.

This, despite the historical norm of receiving significant proportion of tax revenue (33.2% on average with a y-o-y growth of 12%) in the last quarter of any given fiscal year.

Based on actual tax collections data for April-January FY22, revised estimates suggest an implicit decline of 18.4% in gross tax revenue during the months of February and March 2022, while the implicit decline in corporation tax, income tax, GST, customs duty and excise duty works out to 29.2%, 26.5%, 2.3%, and 20.7%, respectively, the article noted.

In reality, tax collections, barring disinvestment proceeds, are going gangbusters. Gross direct tax revenue as on March 16 saw a stupendous 38% increase over the previous fiscal, indicating that even revised estimates will be over-achieved.

What's unclear though is the reason behind the government's overcautiousness in revenue projections for Q4 - a period when tax buoyancy, or the responsiveness of tax revenue to growth in nominal GDP is typically higher during recovery years. In contrast, the revised estimates for FY22 pegged gross tax revenue buoyancy at 0.9, as against the average of 1.4 registered in the past years of economic recovery.

Likewise, direct and indirect tax buoyancy have been budgeted at 1.2 and 0.5 in FY22, as against the average of 1.7 and 1.3, respectively in recovery years. Moreover, buoyancy in FY23 is based on a nominal GDP growth assumption of 11.1%, which will most likely be exceeded. If fiscal forecasts are way off the mark, it undermines the credibility of annual budgets. While the Covid-19 pandemic related economic uncertainty is one possible factor for such conservativism, it's also likely that we still haven't adjusted to the advanced budget making process. The modest projection of FY23 nominal GDP at 11.1% also bears testimony to this fact.

Unlike in the past when the first advance estimates of GDP were released at the end of January after taking into account the economic activity of the first three quarters of the fiscal, to facilitate budget making, they are now being released in the first week of January, but this takes into account data of the first two quarters of the fiscal alone, leaving enough room for forecasting bias. It was only a few years ago that the government seemed to have cracked economic forecasting with accuracy. For instance, a 2017 SBI Research note observed that there was a significant improvement in fiscal architecture in addition to fiscal consolidation in FY17. Prior to 2006, the audited figures always remained within the budgeted figure, but the trend reversed and the difference between budget estimates and the CAG audit figures bulged.

In FY17, however, the difference narrowed significantly. Incidentally, the past few budgets too were applauded for transparency in budget accounting. But, as for assumptions and projections of revenue and growth, they are far from actuals.

TAX REVENUE

Gross direct tax revenue as on March 16 saw a 38% increase over the previous fiscal, indicating that even RE will be over-achieved.

Mahuchikh wins dramatic long-jump gold

Yaroslava Mahuchikh won a dramatic high jump gold for war-torn Ukraine at the World Indoor Championships on Saturday. Mahuchikh fled Ukraine after the Russian invasion of her country. "It's my job to defend Ukraine colours on the track in the international arena, to show that we are the strongest in the world," said Mahuchikh.

IPL 6 DAYS TO GO

All-round squad augurs well for LSG

Lucknow Super Giants have managed to build a strong squad ahead of their debut season in the IPL. Here is a look at some of the important points...

MULTI-DIMENSIONAL PLAYERS

Lucknow may be a new kid on the block, but they outshone some big teams at the auction table in their maiden appearance. Besides getting quality players, their focus was signing multi-utility cricketers. After bagging Marcus Stoinis as one of their draft picks, they added the likes of Deepak Hooda, Jason Holder, Krunal Pandya and Krishnappa Gowtham among others, who can make an impact with both the bat and ball. Also, acquiring the services of leg-spinner Ravi Bishnoi for Rs 4 Cr as in the draft could prove to be a masterstroke.

LAST-MINUTE SETBACK

Just a week ahead of the 15th edition, Lucknow received a major setback with speed merchant Mark Wood, bought for `7.5 crores, getting ruled out due to injury. They are yet to name his replacement. They have Dushmantha Chameera, but can the management trust him to do the job? All eyes will be on Avesh Khan, who will be their trump card. Ankit Rajpoot and Jason Holder are the other medium pacers. Also, the team does not have an out-and-out finisher, so it will be interesting to see how they go ahead in this regard.

WHAT TO EXPECT?

Playing in their first ever season, there is not much pressure on Lucknow to deliver straight away. But it could prove to be a blessing in disguise for KL Rahul and his men, who have the ammunition to shine and win the title in their first attempt. It is just about firing as a unit.

SEN-SATIONAL

Lakshya exhibits resilience to best defending champ, within touching distance of becoming 1st Indian to win All England title

ANMOL GURUNG @ Chennai

SUPERHUMAN reflexes, close to 400kph smashes, marathon rallies, nifty footwork and net play. Saturday's thrilling 76-minute affair between Lakshya Sen and Malaysia's Lee Zii Jia had the crowd at the edge of their seats throughout. More importantly, the contest that unfolded displayed the characters of both shuttlers. Both of them fought like gladiators standing face-to-face to save their lives but in the end, it was Lakshya's stubborn resilience that got him over the line. Just.

That victory added to the 20-year-old's flourishing reputation. Moreover, the shuttler from Uttarakhand is now within touching distance of joining a scarce list of All England Open winners from India. Only Prakash Padukone (in 1980) and Pullela Gopichand (in 2001) — have managed to win the oldest badminton event.

The gravity of his performance so far is telling. Even the likes of Saina Nehwal and PV Sindhu, who have dominated the badminton scene in the last decade or so, have been unable to unlock the All England code. Saina came close in 2015 but missed out in the final hurdle. Sindhu, despite her unquestionable talent, has been unable to go the distance.

ROUTE TO FINAL

R32: BT SOURABH VERMA 21-17, 21-7
R16: BT ANDERS ANTONSEN 21-16, 21-18
QF: BT LU GUANG ZU WALKOVER
SF: BT LII ZI JIA 21-13, 12-21, 21-19

On Saturday, Lakshya remained unfazed. He held his ground firm to churn out big points when needed to beat the defending champion from Malaysia 21-13, 12-21, 21-19.

It was Lakshya who took charge of the initial moments in the first game and headed into the breather with a four-point advantage.

But Lee refused to submit and made Lakshya toil for every point. After this, Lakshya hit a different gear, winning six consecutive points to open up a handy gap. Lee, on the other hand, seemed deflated, and that reflected in the errors that he was making. In the end, it was a comfortable 21-13 win for the Indian.

The second game was equally engaging as Lee turned the tables. The duo was involved in epic rallies but it was Lee who took control of the game with some bullet smashes. Trailing by a big margin, Lakshya did win some points, showing some signs of a fightback.

However, confidence was visible in Lee's body language. He eventually won 21-12 to stay alive. The duo had saved the best for last. Both were inseparable, staying within touching distance. Both came up with some incredible shots; Lee hit one backhand winner which was as fast as 372kph early on.

History awaits Hyderabad & Blasters in ISL

MARTIN JOSEPH @ Kochi

IT is tempting to believe that the final of the 2021-22 Indian Super League final could have a huge bearing on the future course of Indian football. Two underdog outfits have managed to exceed all expectations to reach the summit ahead of traditional heavyweights with better resources and stronger squads on paper.

As Kerala Blasters and Hyderabad FC face-off in the final on Sunday for the ISL trophy, there will be a first-time winner which could, in turn, spark a new wind for these regions. The fact that a new ISL champion will emerge on Sunday is testimony to how this season has been one of the most closely fought and memorable campaigns in recent times. Kerala Blasters boast one of the largest and most passionate fans in the country, and it goes without saying just what winning this trophy would mean for them. The men in yellow came agonizingly close to the title in 2014 and 2016 but had seemed directionless where they struggled for results as coaches and players came and went.

Tactical overhaul need of hour

GOMESH S @ Chennai

ONE of the stand out features about this World Cup has been the number of last over finishes it has produced so far. In the 18 games, nine of them could have gone either way in the final over. To put into context, the last edition of the quadrennial event had just three. Such has been the competitiveness level in this World Cup. Until the match between India and Australia on Saturday, the former were the only team to not have featured in one.

The ODI juggernaut they are, Australia have been a part of only six last over finishes in 41 games since the 2017 World Cup, five of which they have ended up winning. The notable thing, however, is that three of the six matches have been against India in the last six months. Unlike the other two matches, the Saturday's clash at Eden Park, despite going to the last over, might not have been as closely competed as the scorecard reflects.

Having put 277 on the board, it seemed like things were in the balance during mid-innings break. But, it all had changed the moment Alyssa Healy drilled Jhulan Goswami through covers in the very first over. If the attacking opener being in her zone wasn't enough, India did not help themselves by having the cover wide open while trying to pitch it up and swing away. On a surface that had offered no help and a ground with short straight boundaries, India's tactics were questionable.

ICC WOMEN'S CRICKET WORLD CUP NEW ZEALAND 2022

Brief scores: India 277/7 in 50 ovs (Mithali 68, Yastika 59, Kaur 57) lost to Aus 280/4 in 49.3 ovs (Lanning 97, Healy 72).

While they did not give themselves the best chance by leaving their best inswing bowler out of the squad, (remember that dismissal of Healy in the T20Is a few months ago?) what was more baffling were the on-field strategies from skipper Mithali Raj. Against Meg Lanning — who would score through the cover-point region for fun even if the area is packed — India kept the off-side open and provided her with width, letting her score freely. The team management will have to look at how they go about tactics as they have to win both the remaining matches to make it to the semifinals.

SPANISH TREAT

The season's second league Clasico offers an intriguing look at two sides who are on big winning runs after early wobbles. A look at Real vs Barcelona...

UPWARDLY BARCELONA

When Xavi was appointed as coach, the club was unrecognisable, the Catalans were a rabble. Now? They are on a four-match winning run in the league, are in third place & are in the quarterfinals of the Europa League. Talk of a total reversal in fortunes.

REAL ENJOYING VIEW FROM TOP

When Carlo Ancelotti was brought back, there were murmurs of discontent. However, he has once again proved that he gets the best out of a team of superstars that just need a quite word.

BENZEMA MISSES OUT

Real could control the tempo with their superior midfield but the game could be won or lost depending on the efficacy of the forward lines. With Pierre-Emerick Aubameyang, Adama Traore and Ferra Torres all gelling nicely, the visitors possess multiple attacking weapons. Real's Karim Benzema will miss the contest.

SUNDAY FIXTURES

Espanyol vs Mallorca (6.30pm), Cadiz vs Villareal (8.45pm), Celta Vigo vs Real Betis (8.45pm), Sevilla vs Real Sociedad (11pm), Real Madrid vs Barcelona (1.30am (Monday morning).

Advani bags his 8th Asian Billiards title

DOHA: Pankaj Advani defeated compatriot Dhruv Sitwala by six frames to win his eighth title at 2022 Asian 100 UP Billiards Championship. This is Advani's 24th international title and 8th Asian crown. Against Sitwala, Advani won the first frame before following it up with a century break to extend the lead to 2-0.

Sri Lanka to host Asia Cup from August 27

COLOMBO: Sri Lanka will host the Asia Cup T20 tournament from August 27 to September 11, the Asian Cricket Council (ACC) announced after its AGM. India, Pakistan, Afghanistan, Bangladesh and hosts Sri Lanka will feature in the event, along with one more Asian side that will be decided after a qualifiers.

Pro League: India lose to Argentina in shoot-out

CHENNAI: The Indian men's hockey team slumped to its third defeat in the FIH Pro League, losing 1-3 to Argentina in the shoot-out in the first leg match after both the teams were tied 2-2 at the end of the regulation time on Saturday. It was a terrible shoot-out from India as only Harmanpreet Singh scored.

Khade-Cash win doubles title

Julian Cash (l) and Arjun Khade

ENS/AGENCIES @ Bengaluru

THE Indo-Great Britain pairing of Arjun Khade and Julian Cash were crowned doubles champions of the SKME ITF Open at the KSLTA Stadium here on Saturday. The top seeded duo defeated the second seeded pair of Sasikumar Mukund and Vishnu Vardhan 7-6 (5), 3-6, 10-7.

It was a brilliant way to end the day for Khade, who, earlier, beat Maks Kasnikowski of Poland 3-6, 6-4, 6-2 to reach the singles final. He will meet second seed Sidharth Rawat in the title-decider on Sunday. The latter eased past Manish Sureshkumar in straight sets 6-2, 7-5.

Saka goal helps Arsenal beat Villa

AFP @ Birmingham

ARSENAL took another big step towards ending a five-year exile from the Champions League as Bukayo Saka's strike beat Aston Villa 1-0 to open up a four-point lead in fourth in the Premier League.

The Gunners could even increase that gap with a game in hand over fifth-placed Manchester United and were well worthy of the three points against a toothless Villa despite the narrow scoreline.

A run of 10 wins from their last 13 league games has propelled Arteta's men to the front of the race to join Manchester City, Liverpool and Chelsea in the top four.

MAHARASHTRA'S RICH HERITAGE & HISTORY

At present, Maharashtra hosts 5 out of the 38 UNESCO world heritage sites, making it the state with the highest number of UNESCO recognised sites. Each of these sites is a repository of history and culture, and an architectural marvel. Each site has a tale to tell.

Here are the UNESCO recognised World Heritage Sites in the State:

Ajanta Caves

Located in the Aurangabad District of Maharashtra state, the Ajanta Caves are approximately 30 rock-cut Buddhist cave monuments. The very first cave monuments among the Ajanta caves date back to the 2nd and 1st B.C., and during the Chandragupta Maurya Period (5th and 6th A.D.). Many more richly decorated caves were added to the original group later. The Ajanta caves are renowned of their paintings and sculptures, and are a key tourism spot in the state of Maharashtra. Additionally, the paintings and sculptures found in the Ajanta Caves are considered to be the masterpieces of Buddhist religious art, and have had a considerable artistic influence.

Spreading over an expanse of 8,242 hectares, and a buffer zone of 78,676 hectares, the Ajanta caves form one of the biggest cave structures of the country. They have also been mentioned in several memoirs of Chinese-Buddhist travellers from the medieval era, as well as in the accounts of a Mughal-era official, from Akbar's reign in the early 17th century. Interestingly, the caves were covered by the jungle until they were accidentally discovered by a colonial British officer in the year 1819. The Ajanta caves were designated as a UNESCO recognised World Heritage site in the year 1983.

The Ajanta caves are located approximately 430 kilometres away from Mumbai, and 100 kilometres away from Aurangabad. People can travel to Ajanta Caves by Road, State Transport or Railways. Jalgaon city, about 60 kilometre from Ajanta Caves is the nearest rail head.

Ellora Caves

Extending over a stretch of more than 2 kilometres, the Ellora Caves comprise of 34 monasteries and temples that were dug side-by-side in the wall of a high basalt cliff. The Ellora caves are situated in the Aurangabad district of Maharashtra state, and are only 100 kilometres away from the Ajanta Caves located in the same district.

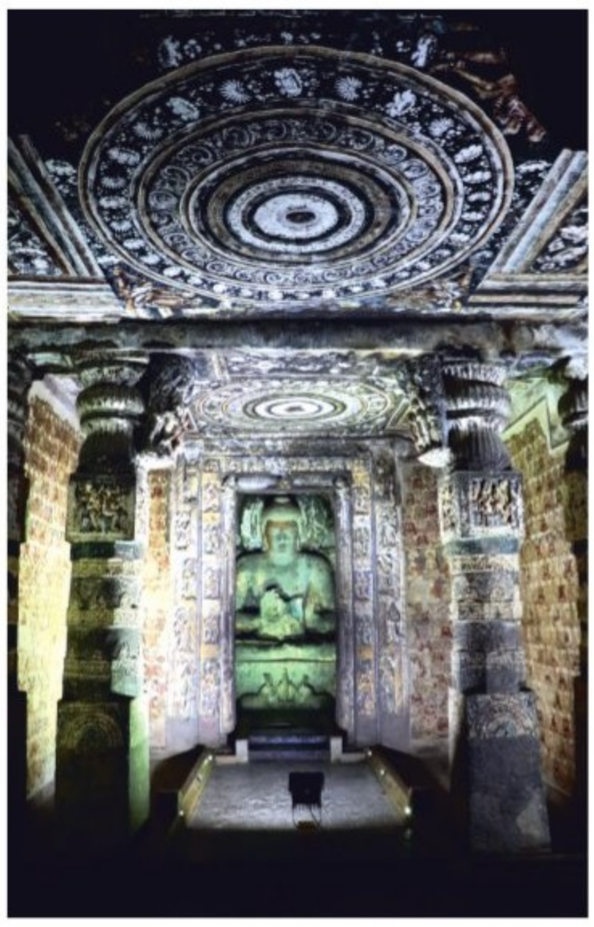
With its sequence of monuments ranging from 600 A.D. to 1000 A.D., the Ellora Caves bring the civilisation of ancient India to life.

The ensemble of 34 caves at Ellora, showcases the spirit of co-existence and religious tolerance through the outstanding architectural activities carried out by followers of of three prominent religions – Buddhism, Brahmanism and Jainism. The earliest caves that were excavated between the 5th and 8th centuries, reflect Buddhist philosophy of the Mahayana culture that was prevalent in the region during those times. The caves that showcased the Brahmanical Ideology, including the Kailasa Temple, were excavated between the 7th and 10th centuries. The last phase of excavations that was carried out between the 9th and 12th centuries witnessed the excavation of a group of caves that reflected the Jain ideologies. Just like Ajanta Caves, the Ellora Caves were also designated as a UNESCO recognised World Heritage site in the year 1983.

Ellora caves is located approximately 340.5 kilometres away from Mumbai, and 257 kilometres away from Pune. People can use Road Transport, State Transport or Railways to visit this UNESCO Heritage site. Aurangabad Railway Station is the nearest rail

Elephanta Caves
Elephanta Caves

Also known as the 'City of Caves', the Elephanta Caves are a collection of rock art linked to the cult of Shiva, located on an Island in the Sea of Oman close to Mumbai. It is home to one of the most perfect expressions of Indian art, particularly the huge high reliefs in the main cave structure. Additionally, the main cave's orientation, and the relative location of the other caves is in a Mandala pattern. The carvings of the caves are the narrations of Hindu Mythology, with large monolithic 20 feet Trimurti Sadashiva (Three-faced Shiva), Nataraja (the Lord of Dance) and Yogishvara (the God of Yoga) being the most celebrated tales.



Ajanta Caves

The caves were discovered by colonial Portuguese, who renamed the initially titled Elefante Caves to Elephanta Caves after finding elephant statues on the caves. The main cave used to be a Hindu place of worship until the Portuguese arrived and established a base on the island. Most of the sculpture and cave damage was caused by the soldiers of the Portuguese base. The earliest attempts to restore and prevent further damage to the site was started by British India officials in the year 1909. The monuments were then restored by 1970, and designated as a UNESCO World Heritage site in the year 1987.

The Elephanta Caves are situated approximately 9 nautical miles away from Mumbai. People can travel to the Water Ferries from Gateway Of India.

Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj Terminus

In Mumbai, Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj Terminus (Formerly known as Victoria Terminus) is a splendid example of the Victorian Gothic Revival architecture in India, with a blend of themes derived from traditional Indian architecture. The building of this World Heritage site was designed by British architect F. W. Stevens. Over time, the Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj Terminus station has become the symbol of Mumbai as the Gothic City', and a major mercantile port of India.

Built over a period of 10 years, starting in the year 1878, the terminal was constructed based on late medieval Italian models, according to a High Victorian Gothic design. The stone dome, turrets, pointed arches and eccentric ground plan showcase a striking resemblance to Indian Palace architecture. It is a remarkable example of the meeting of two cultures, as it was worked upon by British architects who worked with Indian craftsmen to include Indian architectural tradition, thus forging a unique and new style to Mumbai. The Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj Terminus Railway Station is the headquarter of the Indian Central Railways, and was designated as a UNESCO World Heritage site in the year 2004.

Visitors can travel to this UNESCO recognised world heritage site by Road, State Transport or Railways.

Victorian Gothic and Art Deco Ensembles of Mumbai

In the second half of the 19th century, Mumbai implemented one of the rather ambitious urban planning projects, which led to an ensemble of public building bordering the Oval Maidan in open space. They were first adapted in the Victorian Gothic and Neo-Gothic styles of architecture, and then in the Art-Deco idiom in the early 20th century. The Victorian Neo-Gothic ensemble includes the Indian elements suited to the climate, including balconies and verandas. While the Art-Deco edifices with their cinemas and residential buildings that blend Indian design with Art-Deco imagery. The unique blend has been described as Indo-Deco.The two waves of urban development in Mumbai that took place during the late 19th and early 20th centuries transformed the city from a fortified trading outpost to the first city of India. Today, the surrounding area of the Oval Maidan offers a spectacular ensemble of Victorian Gothic buildings on the eastern side of Mahapalika Road. They also provide a testimony to the modernisation phases that the city went through leading to a modern independent India in 1947. The Victorian Gothic and Art-Deco Ensemble of Mumbai were the latest addition to the list of UNESCOs recognised World Heritage sites in Maharashtra, and was designated as the same in the year 2018.
